TARIFF VOTE LEAVES FEW PARTY SPLITS

Democrats Remain True To Stand Against High American Tariff

MANY ARE URGING VETO

But President Is Expected To Sign Measure With Message Of Protest

Washington—(CPA)—The Republican party is still the party of protection though with weakened strength, while the Democratic party in the United States seems still remains true to its traditional hostility to a high tariff.

Out of the 44 votes recorded in favor of the Hawley-Smoot bill, all but five came from the Republican side. All of the votes cast against the bill, all but 12 came from the Democratic side.

This preponderance of Democratic votes against the measure is taken to mean that the five Democrats who helped to pass the bill will not be regarded as typical of the party's position.

Thus, for instance, the two senators from Louisiana, the two senators from Florida and the single Democratic senator from Wyoming have always been known as protectionists because of the demands of their constituents. The senators from Louisiana departed from the Woodrow Wilson position on the tariff because of an insistence on protection for sugar. The Florida senators naturally are vigilant with respect to citrus fruits, and the Wyoming senator is deeply interested in seeing that the wool industry is served, because of the large sheep ranches in his state.

FOR SOME SCHEDULES

Analyzing the vote it is interesting to see how many Democrats who voted for high duties in particular schedules were recorded against the whole bill on final passage. This, the Republican party charges, does not absolve the Democrats from responsibility. Nevertheless when the final count was made and the tally showed 44 in favor and 42 against, a change of two votes would have defeated the bill. There was no certainty until the last minute that some shift might not be made.

An extraordinary amount of interest surrounded the voting because of the distinct sentiment coming from

TWO IDAHO YOUTHS ARE ORDAINED AS MONKS OF BUDDHA

San Francisco—(AP)—Two Boise, Idaho, youths, ordained as celibate, Buddhist monks, today began accomplishment of their avowed ideal, bringing the east and west in closer relationship.

The ordination ceremony, said to be the first in the United States, was conducted yesterday in the Sen-Buddhist temple by Hyogen Senzaki, Buddhist monk and teacher.

As he held a knife poised over the neophytes to symbolize the cutting away of worldly desires, L. A. Colburn, 21, and E. M. Ormsby, 25, became Mokusa and Koun. The young monks expect to leave for Japan within a few months for a five-year period of training.

500 Million Is Due Today At Treasury

Government Expected To End Year With $100,000,000 Or More As Surplus

Washington—(AP)—With more than one and a half billion dollars passing through the United States treasury today the second payment of taxes on 1929 incomes was pouring into the government coffers to swell such collections to unprecedented totals.

Treasury experts expected today's collections to amount to $500,000,000 or more. At the same time the government was paying off $450,000,000 in maturing certificates of indebtedness, taking in $450,000,000 from the sale of such securities and paying about $90,000,000 interest on the public debt.

On June 12, the last day shown in the treasury's daily statement the government had collected for the fiscal year which started July 1 a total of $3,457,920,910 and had spent in the same time $3,958,572,849. Though this left a deficit of $500,651,939 treasury officials expected President Hoover's first full fiscal year in office to end with a comfortable surplus.

Of the total receipts for the year $1,919,005,251 were received as tax on incomes of 1929. Indications were that the treasury estimates of a total return of $2,480,000,000 from income taxes in the fiscal year would be borne out so closely as to surprise even veteran experts of the fiscal department.

TOTAL INCOME BIGGER

The total income for the year to June 12 was $105,000,000 more than received in the same period of last year while the expenditures were $177,000,000 greater, due in part to increasing government activities and the operations of the Federal Farm board.

General expenditures of the government amounted to $2,078,445,165 about $30,000,000 more than for the corresponding last year while the postal deficiency for the year totals $85,074,870 to date as compared to $70,020,900 in the same period last year.

The total of ordinary expenditures of the government for the year to last Thursday was $3,156,141,745 as compared to $3,050,096,970 for the same time a year ago.

With at least $600,000,000 in income tax expected by the treasury before the end of the fiscal year on June 30 indications were that the government would have a total income during the year of a little more than $4,000,000,000, and end the year with a surplus of $100,000,000 or more.

SAVES MAN FROM LAKE BUT DIES IN ATTEMPT

Madison—(AP)—An attempt to rescue a fellow patient from the waters of Lake Mendota last night was successful but it cost the life of Sam McDonald, 38, a patient at the Mendota State hospital here.

John Leach, 26, was the rescued patient. McDonald and Warren Jacobs, 22, Chippewa Falls, succeeded in getting Leach into his capsize canoe but McDonald slipped while hauling water from his boat, lost his balance and tipped both canoes.

Hospital attendants have Leach and Warren but McDonald disappeared. At noon today the body had not been recovered.

MANY PIVOTAL ISSUES TOUCH NEW BOTTOMS

Scores Of Stocks Slump $5 To $20 A Share—Other Markets Decline

New York—(AP)—Stock prices were swept into one of the most precipitous declines of the year by a torrent of selling orders today. A long list of pivotal issues established new low levels for 1930 or longer, and the selling was so heavy the ticker fell nearly half an hour behind floor transactions.

By 1:30 efforts to support the market appeared to be meeting with some success. U. S. Steel, after reaching a new low for the movement at $139.25, rallied above $160, and slight rallies appeared in several other pivotal issues. Selling pressure slackened a little, and the ticker started to catch up with floor transactions.

Scores of issues plunged $5 to nearly $20 a share. U. S. Steel declined $250 to $160, where powerful efforts were made to support it. The stock was taken at that price in large blocks, but shortly after midday it broke slightly below that level. This compared with a bottom of $150 a share reached in the November crash, at which level it was hurriedly supporting order to buy 200,000 shares was placed.

American Telephone tumbled $5 a share to a new low for the year close to $10. Last November, however, the stock touched $197. Shares declining $7 to $10 included American Water Works, Westinghouse Electric, Union Pacific, General American Tank, Worthington pump, Vanadium, American Tobacco B, and Houston Oil. J. I. Case dropped 15 and Allied Chemical nearly $20.

OTHER MARKETS DOWN

The decline in stocks was accompanied by heavy sellings in the speculative markets generally. In the Chicago wheat pit, wheat futures declined 2 cents a bushel and more, and in the New York cotton exchange, cotton futures lost $1 a bale and more. In the coffee and sugar exchange, some selling of raw sugar futures from houses with Cuban connections appeared, and this was generally attributed to the tariff which raises the duty on this commodity.

Corn market stocks also headed downward. Electric Bond and share dropped more than $8 a share to a new 1930 low of $80, compared with the November minimum of $50. Cities Service lost more than $2 getting into the neighborhood of the year's low at $26.50. American Superpower tumbled nearly $4.

In the over-the-counter market, prices of leading bank stocks declined sharply. Chase National was quoted at $149, bid, off $6.50; National City $158, bid, off $5.50; Guaranty Trust $65, bid, off $2; Bankers Trust, $134 bid, off $8; Central Hanover, $352, off $14.

GRAINS AT NEW LOWS

Chicago—(AP)—All grain prices were driven to fresh bottom levels today, both July and September delivery of wheat sinking under the dollar line.

Wheat futures dropped from 21 to 33 cents a bushel under the weak closing prices of Saturday, July touching bottom at 53 cents and finishing only a fraction better.

September wheat crossed the dollar line to 88 cents. Persistently good weather in the spring wheat belt has been a weakening factor in the market for several days, and to this was added today the growing fear that foreign countries would retaliate against the new American tariff by raising a barrier against grain from the United States.

ONE DEAD, TEN SAVED AFTER YACHTS COLLIDE

New York—(AP)—A sailor was drowned and ten persons, including Claire Windsor, motion picture actress, were rescued when two yachts, one owned by Phillip N. Plant, prominent Broadway figure, collided late last night three miles off Greenwich, Conn.

The plant yacht, Loita, on which Miss Windsor was a guest, was struck amidships by the Chang Wang, owned by Chatfield Taylor.

TWO BROTHERS TRY TO SET ENDURANCE RECORD

Chicago—(AP)—Two brothers, John and Kenneth Hunter, today were seeking to break the world's refueling endurance record for airplane. Their plane, the "City of Chicago," a Stinson Senior cabin monoplane, took off from Sky harbor last Wednesday afternoon. At 4:40 a. m. today the brothers, whose home is in Sparta, Ill., had been in the air 168 hours.

Hoover To Sign Tariff Bill—Thinks Flexible Provision Is Safeguard

Washington—(AP)—The Smoot-Hawley tariff bill passed through White House doors today while the senate rang with Democratic accusations that President Hoover took a deceptive stand in his statement of intent to sign the measure.

Vice President Curtis affirmed his name this morning. Then the bulky document traveled from the capital to the executive offices in the custody of Mrs. G. H. Davies, clerk of the house committee on enrolled bills.

Senator Harrison, the Mississippi plan, denounced the President's statement of last night—saying he did not "suppose there ever was a document sent out from the White House that had more misleading

Storms Kill 9 Persons In Texas Area

Oklahoma Loses Several Hundred Thousand Dollars In Property Damage

Dallas, Tex.—(AP)—Sudden storms over the weekend in the southwest took a toll of nine lives in Texas and caused damage in Oklahoma estimated unofficially at several hundred thousand dollars, chiefly to ripened wheat.

Mrs. Morris Durham, Lamesa, hostess at a supper party and Mrs. Cora Whitaker, one of the guests were killed and five others injured by lightning Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Tudwell of Geos, Oscar, Jr., 8, Edna 17, their son and daughter, and Mrs. Tully's mother, Mrs. W. M. Gilman, 80, were drowned when a sudden freshet swept away their home on Lake Creek Saturday.

Lindsey Phillips, 15, of Kirven, was drowned Saturday when his automobile ran off a road into a swollen stream near Fairfield, and P. C. Luling, was drowned when his automobile was swept from a stream crossing near San Angelo.

Scores of persons were driven from their homes at Wichita Falls, yesterday by a rain which inundated several hundred acres of farm land, and a mile of the Fort Worth highway.

Reinfall which was almost a cloud-burst near Uvalde, south Texas, turned unnamed creeks into raging torrents that washed out several hundred feet of Southern Pacific right of way and disrupted train service.

100 DIE AS MUNITIONS DUMP GOES UP IN BLAST

Shanghai—(AP)—One hundred persons were killed, three hundred injured and heavy property damage resulted from the explosion of a munitions dump at Chuchow, about 30 miles south of Changsha, Hunan province, June 10, delayed Chinese press advices revealed today.

Dispatches stated that Kwangsi province invading rebel soldiers captured the government camp and attempted to move the explosives stored therein. A soldier was reported to have handled a hand grenade roughly, causing a disaster lasting six hours.

The dispatches continued: "Shells and bullets shot in all directions, killing one hundred officers, privates and civilians and wounding hundreds more. People were terrorized. Disembodied bodies lay everywhere."

Convicts in a nearby jail attempted to escape during the explosion and guards were forced to fire, killing many.

Gilbert Warns Germany Of Need To Reform Its Budget

Berlin—(AP)—The last warning of S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparations under the Dawes plan, that the Reich must radically reform its budget if existing internal and external obligations, including the Young plan payments, are to be met, was before the German people today.

In his final report, given at the end of five years' stewardship in behalf of operation of the Dawes plan, Mr. Gilbert declared that if the budget was kept within bounds, Germany would be able to meet her Young plan obligations and develop industrially.

At the same time he declared: "Although the means and the public revenues provide the essential ma-

CAPITOL TRIP PRESSED DEEP INTO MEMORY

Outagamie-co Folks Happy As They Return From Washington

BY H. K. DERUS
It's all over!

The trip which Outagamie-county rural school graduates worked and hoped and planned and discussed for six months is now a memory. And what a memory!

They were members of the first graduating class to receive diplomas on the steps of the national capitol in Washington, and the diplomas were distributed by a congressman and a senator. They sat beside the president of the United States and had their pictures taken. They sat on the rock at Harper's Ferry where Thomas Jefferson wrote his famous inaugural speech. They saw the place John Brown made famous.

There was a memorable boat ride down the Potomac river in the moonlight. There was a visit to many historically famous spots where battles were fought and the foundations of the United States were laid.

They saw Mount Vernon, where George Washington lived. They saw the church attended by Washington and Robert E. Lee. They climbed Washington monument and gazed at the capital from its dizzy heights.

VISIT WHITE HOUSE

They visited the White House and sat on the lawn. They saw the old plane, "Spirit of St. Louis" in which Lindy made his non-stop flight across the Atlantic ocean. They visited Smithsonian institute, the National museum, the Pan American building, Arlington cemetery, Army and Navy building; saw the house of representatives and the senate in action, and saw many other things that it would require more and more space to tell about them.

And then they came home. Not a single serious mishap marred the wonderful four days. There were some cases of train sickness, etc., but nothing serious. No one got lost. Everyone got enough to eat. The only criticism expressed about the whole trip, and this was an almost unanimous one, was:

"It didn't last long enough."

Before the crowd left the train in Appleton it unanimously voted that the entire trip was a huge success, and that Outagamie-county owed to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, a night vote of thanks.

STARTED WEDNESDAY

The trip started from Appleton at 7:30 Wednesday morning. Two special trains of 11 cars each, carrying the 1200 cheering, enthusiastic representatives. The first leg of the trip, to Chicago, was made via the Chicago and Northwestern railroad. From Chicago the special trains were transferred to the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, over which the remainder of the trip to Washington was made.

On the way to Washington the crowds carried their own lunch, although milk was served free in such quantities as were desired. Nothing of interest marked the journey as far as Harper's Ferry. The boys and girls chattered all the way in excited tones about the rapidly approaching thrilling event. They gazed from the windows in rapt wonder as they passed through huge cities which exceeded even their wildest dreams. Many of the rural boys and girls

Wins Approval

Washington—(AP)—The senate agriculture committee today approved the recommendations of Alexander Leage (Iowa) as chairman of the joint board and C. C. McGowan as the member representing fruit and vegetable growers.

Since committee action was unanimous, only senate confirmation is expected. Senator McNary, the committee chairman, said he would seek senate consideration late today or tomorrow.

Lake Cargo Case Again Being Heard

Washington—(AP)—The coal producers of the north and southern states, and the coal companies in the west and northwestern states, today began the hearing of the Interstate Commerce commission on the case of the Lake cargo case.

The Interstate Commerce commission, which has been in session since the last week of May, is today considering the case of the Lake cargo case, which involves the rates of Lake cargo coal.

This, the most hotly contested railroad freight rate adjustment in the United States, was brought on again by petitions from Ohio and Pennsylvania coal producers, interested in asking that they be given better rates on Lake cargo coal shipments.

FORMER MINISTER DIES IN POVERTY

Little Attention Given Body Of Lucien Klotz, Versailles Treaty Signer

Paris—(AP)—A woman from across the hall and her child of 21 years today watched over the body of Lucien Klotz, French wartime minister of finance, who died yesterday of cancer, in a greatly reduced circumstances.

Death came at the age of 62 while Klotz, who signed the treaty of Versailles, was being shaved. Although he had only minutes where once he had frames he had kept to the habit of his days of power of having his barber call instead of going to him.

In 1928, after having reputedly lost heavily in the New York stock market, Klotz suffered a collapse, and shortly afterward was charged with issuing bad checks. He resigned his seat in the senate to escape criminal charges, but after being pronounced sane was sentenced to two years in prison and a fine of 50 francs. The sentence was suspended.

Shortly afterward his wife divorced him and he was disbarred by the Paris Bar association. During the last years of his life his purchase for the government of American war stocks left in France was under considerable fire.

WEARY KING CAROL AT CASTLE TO GET REST

Bucharest—(AP)—King Carol II, who ten days ago deserted Mme. Magda Lupescu for the cares of a home, has become over-worked and will go to Pelesch castle, more than 50 miles from here to rest until Thursday.

Since his arrival in Bucharest Friday, a week ago, the sovereign has been the center of crowding events which thrust his eight-year-old son from the throne, placed a crown on his own head, and all but brought a reconciliation with his divorced wife, Queen Helen, mother of Michael and a former princess of Greece.

A high official issued denial of reports that Mme. Lupescu was returning to Bucharest. A Berne dispatch to the London Daily Mail Saturday said she would enter Rumania inconspicuously yesterday, in compliance with a promise of Carol's to send her.

RUSSELL OUT AS RESULT OF LINGLE CASE

Detective Chief Stege Demoted With Resignation Of His Superior

DEFENDS HIS REGIME

Russell Issues Statement Pointing Out Difficulties Of Office

Chicago—(AP)—William F. Russell, chief of the detective bureau, today announced his resignation to-day as commander of police.

For his severe public criticism of his conduct of the department and apparent failure of the police to cope with the gang rule of Chicago, the commissioner said he had prepared a statement offering his resignation to the mayor.

Commissioner Russell's resignation comes with the demotion of John Stege, chief of the detective bureau, whom he named today to captaincy of the Irving Park police district.

John H. Abbe, first deputy commissioner, was expected to take charge of the department pending appointment of a new commissioner.

COMMUNIST NO SURPRISE

Retention of the police came as no surprise to the Chicago press. Russell's resignation, as expected, he would not quit until the day after his resignation was accepted.

When his resignation was accepted, demand of Mayor William H. Thompson was not known. The mayor has not yet said whether he will accept the resignation or not. The resignation was expected to follow the resignation of Mayor of Chicago, Thompson, reported, Alfred J. Lingle.

Commissioner Russell, it was expected, would resign on June 17, the day after his resignation was accepted.

When the resignation was accepted, demand of Mayor William H. Thompson was not known. The mayor has not yet said whether he will accept the resignation or not. The resignation was expected to follow the resignation of Mayor of Chicago, Thompson, reported, Alfred J. Lingle.

ADMITS HELPLESSNESS

In a statement to newspapermen, the commissioner admitted he was no longer able to function in his present capacity and would step out rather than embarrass any investigation of his administration or of the police force.

Implying the blame for the failure to keep an adequate police force and indirectly to strained municipal finances, he asserted that general crime conditions in Chicago were better than in other American cities.

Old Robert L. Ham, Randolph, association of commerce president, who had called a conference today of the executive committee of the association to discuss the situation, when informed of the situation commented: "I think the successors of Russell and Stege are given an absolute authority to clean up whatever may be the situation of any sort, the removal of Russell and Stege is a mere gesture."

RUSSELL'S STATEMENT

In submitting his resignation Commissioner Russell gave out the following statement:

"I am resigning because I can't function here any longer and because I do not want to hamper the investigation. I thought I did a good job and I am ready to let someone else try it."

"Deputy Stege is going to Irving Park station so he will not hamper any investigation either. I have been working day and night since the hall and hospital of 21 years ago. I took this job and have been working full time ever since. My investigation will not stop out of the department, but will go back to my civil service rank as captain and I'll stay in the department as long as they want me. They will find I am still the same Bill Russell I always was. I am only getting myself and Stege out of the picture."

"You can check up my orders, my work, my fight to get additional police. I saved money out of salaries to buy 100 police cars and to establish the police radio station which will be inaugurated this afternoon."

"Swanson (state's attorney) gave me the best he could and had. He tried damned hard and is trying, but he is hampered, too. They won't give him money either to hire the best attorneys. It all resolves down to a question of finances. I am an illustration of man's inhumanity to man. Someone had to be the red man. I didn't want to come here in the first place. I am glad to get out. I sincerely hope my successor will have a happier time than I had."

DEFENDS CONDITIONS

"Conditions in Chicago are better than in any big city in the country except for a few racketeers and I defy a city to show a cleaner record than Chicago. With unemployment prevalent, burglaries and similar crimes, Stege has had to sleep standing up."

"I have stood 300,000,000 tons of pressure and I've stood it manfully and this is what I get. I am not making any alibi. I'll put my record against that of any other chief of police. You can ask Tarrow, man was killed in Minneapolis."

35 Iowans Face Conspiracy Charges In Cattle Sales

ACCUSED OF FRAUD DEALS WITH BUYERS

Culled Animals Alleged To Be Sent Instead Of Good Stock Purchased

Fairfield, Iowa — (AP) — Thirty-five men from five southeastern Iowa counties were summoned here today to answer charges of conspiracy in connection with the sale of cattle represented as good grade feeding stock but, according to affidavits of the purchasers, culled animals from southwest range herds and the Kansas City stockyards.

Indicated last Friday, the men were to appear today for arraignment and the posting of $5,000 bond on each charge. An application for reduction of the bond remained to be argued by defense attorneys, however, before the preliminaries of the case got under way. Authorities were faced with the possibility of prosecution extending over several months and possibly years, should each of the men elect to stand separate trial.

The scheme described by officials as the only used by the ring embodied the importation of thousands of head of culled cattle from the southwest and Kansas City and these were later sent to the purchasers. The purchasers, however, according to their affidavits, had not been shown this grade of cattle when they came to Fairfield, but instead were shown herds of good grade feeding stock which they agreed to purchase.

Authorities estimated the financial operations of the ring during the last eight or ten years at close to $3,000,000.

RING LEADERS RICH

The alleged leaders of the ring, the Balls and Stevers, were described by Fairfield residents as well to do, owners of large land holdings in this section.

The others of the indicted men were described by authorities as entertainers for the visiting cattlemen, salesmen, loaders and general assistants in the organization.

George F. Stever was said to be ill at his home and some doubt was expressed as to his ability to appear today.

The affidavits on which the Jefferson county grand jury returned the indictments Friday were signed by farmers of Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Missouri and Iowa.

MINNESOTA GOES TO PRIMARY TODAY

Political Futures Of Scholl And Christianson Depend On Outcome

St. Paul — (AP) — Political futures of Minnesota's two outstanding Republican leaders were at stake today as party followers registered their preferences for nominations for United States senator, governor, and other state and congressional offices in the biennial primary election.

The two leaders, Senator Thomas D. Scholl and Gov. Theodore Christianson, are openly hostile to the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill, and favorable to prohibition and to continued affiliation of Minnesota's senators with the Independent Republican faction. They virtually ignored John F. Selby, a late entrant into the race, who campaigned entirely on a platform calling for repeal or modification of the eighteenth amendment.

Farmer-Laborites as well as Republicans voted their choice for nominees for the senate, for governor, but had fewer other contests between candidates while Democrats, who selected their nominees at a state convention, had only minor contests to settle.

Knut Wedell and Ernest Lundeen, both former representatives in congress, entered as candidates for the Farmer-Labor senatorial nomination, five Republican congressmen were unopposed in the primary, and one, Conrad G. Selvig, of the Ninth district, as also without opposition in the fall general election.

RETAIL TRADE IN WEST IS AVERAGE

Purchasing Power Of Agricultural States At Low Ebb Just Now

Special Dispatch to the Post-Crescent, Kansas City, Mo. — (CPA) — With summer getting under way, retail trade is maintaining a fair average without any particular stimulus from the producer's income. This, of course, is not the period when much grain goes to market.

The psychological effect of what foodstuffs are sold has much to do with the tendency of the agricultural states' purchasing disposition. Probably, too, the minor products market is fully as influential on this as major outputs in the normal community. One factor that affects local business is the farmstead's small goods disposal.

For instance, major products like corn and wheat at this period are sold moderately. Primary market prices for these cereals vary little from last June. Wheat at 85 cents is three cents higher than a year ago; corn at 72 cents a bushel is seven cents less—not a material difference.

But butter fat, the dairy products that furnishes the ready money and which is being urged as the "mortgage payer" of the farm, is 23 cents against 41 a year ago. Eggs have for weeks been back on the level of 15 years ago, 13 to 18 cents a dozen. The farm wife depends on her egg basket for much of her household money. These two products affect the morale of the farmstead more acutely than is usually realized and the market for them is reflected in lessening retail purchasing.

Wheat cutting commenced in localities this week, ten days earlier than usual. How early benefit will be received by trade will depend on the

FRIENDSHIPS NOT BIGGEST THING IN UNIVERSITY LIFE

Michigan President Deplores Popular Attitude On Social Contacts

Evanston, Ill. — (AP) — Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan, today rapped the students credo that social contacts are the important contributions of college life.

Addressing the graduating class at Northwestern university's commencement exercises, Dr. Ruthven said this belief was one of those "comfortable sayings with which students console themselves in periods of distress" and that such contacts are important only when they have "stimulated thinking or will, after college, contribute to intellectual development."

"Seldom, if ever, owing to lack of maturity in school days and the exigencies of life and differences in interests after graduation, can these college friendships in themselves be of sufficient benefit to justify the expense of a university education," he said.

Dr. Ruthven also deplored the conception of higher education as predominately a training in the technique of earning a livelihood.

Not only does such a conception contribute to a one-sided development," he said, "but its value is short-lived. Techniques change rapidly, and without denying that college may appropriately give the student tools which he can use in his work, we may yet insist that if these are all it furnishes him in the inevitable result will be that college will become a trade school and its product will be unpalatable."

POPULAR VIEWPOINT

Declaring that many educators in recent years have seen in extra-curricular activities an important training for the student, Dr. Ruthven said the general argument for the recognition and encouragement of interests outside the classroom is selling policy of the producer. If in debt, he is unable to hold his grain and regardless of price will sell, and his net income is absorbed in meeting obligations. The disposition of the independent grower is yet to be seen.

ONE MAN EARNS AS MUCH AS THREE DID LATE LAST CENTURY

Chicago — (AP) — Since 1900, the National Association of Purchasing Agents was told today, machines have displaced two men out of three, and left the third man earning as much as all three earned before.

The statistics were presented by Franklin Hobbs, director of research of the Central Trust company of Illinois. He added that each worker in the United States produces $3,300 worth of labor product for his employer annually and gets $1,800 for doing it. This compares with $1,000 worth of product and $425 wages in 1899, he said.

Another speaker, William H. Jackson, general manager of the Axelson Aircraft Engine company of Los Angeles, told a group meeting of the purchasing agents that aviation is not yet on a production basis and will not be until planes can be flown direct from the home, as automobiles are.

"It is not reasonable to suppose," he said, "that a flivver plane can be purchased at a flivver price if it has been built on a tailor-made basis."

Hobbs, in his talk which was based on a recent statistical survey of conditions in America, scored the tendency among business executives to take a pessimistic view of general conditions, pointing out that "some dozens of different lines are breaking records this year."

that such activities broaden the student's life to his advantage and develop in him a desirable practicality.

"One may leave our institutions of higher learning with an encyclopedic knowledge, the contacts of the successful politician, the social graces of a Chesterfield and the technique of the most skilled workman; at this period he may be recognized as an informed person, he may be popular with his fellowmen, have the reputation of being a big man on the campus, and promise to be successful in his profession, and still with all this have failed conspicuously to receive what he hoped to give him during his irresponsible years. It is the ignorance, or the overlooking, of this general fact which has frequently caused us to be puzzled to explain the failure of apparently promising students," Dr. Ruthven said.

Pay Tribute At Grave Of La Follette

Madison — (AP) — Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Montana, yesterday paid high tribute to the late Senator Robert M. La Follette at annual memorial services held here for "fighting Bob."

Senator Wheeler urged other political leaders to adopt the independent spirit manifest by the former Wisconsin senator. He lauded Senator Robert La Follette and Phil La Follette, sons of the elder La Follette, for continuing their father's work.

Mrs. La Follette, widow of the senator, and Phil La Follette were present. After the services, a reception was held at the old La Follette home.

The crowd of about 1,000 which attended the memorial services was the largest that has gathered at the grave of the late senator since his funeral in 1925.

Herman Ekern, former attorney general, introduced Senator Wheeler. Standing at the head of the grave, Senator Wheeler said his return to the La Follette grave made him feel like the arrival of General Pershing at the grave of LaFayette in France.

"LaFollette, we are here," he said. Wheeler traced the war record of the late senator, told how his col-

MENASHA WOMAN, APPLETON MAN WIN FLOWER SHOW CUPS

Silver Trophies Awarded By Flower And Garden Society For Excellence

The two silver loving cups presented as trophies at the annual flower and garden show held at the Armory last weekend went to E. W. Young, 721 E. Alton-st. and to Mrs. N. Beck, Jr., 467 Milwaukee-st., Menasha. Mr. Young received the Flower and Garden society officers' cup for the most outstanding basket of flowers and Mrs. Beck was the recipient of the Appleton Post-Crescent cup for the most attractive vase of flowers.

Mrs. Charles Green, 309 N. Drew-st., won the fern stand, complete with fern, given by the Sunnyside Floral company for the best basket of red peonies. The golden Arboretum donated by Herman Holtz as an attendance prize went to Mrs. William Harwood, Kaukauna. Two other names were drawn in the event that the first winner does not call for the plant. The next two names drawn are Jeanne Lalson, 809 E. Minor-st., and Mrs. Beth Benke, 175 Fourth-st., Waukesha.

Special prizes, subscriptions to gardening journals, were won by Mrs. M. A. Wertheimer, Kaukauna. Geraldine Schmidt, Mrs. Charles Stribley, Kaukauna, Mrs. E. J. Lachmann, Neenah, Fred Poppe, Mrs. Joseph Schaefer, Mrs. Louise Galpin and John Schlicht.

LEGION SPONSORS

The show, sponsored by the American Legion and put on by the Flower and Garden society, of which H. A. Schlicht is president drew hundreds of persons from Appleton and vicinity to an armory transformed into an arbor of flowers. Despite the tricks of the weatherman, with his frost and heavy rains, the Armory was banked with remarkably specimens of spring flowers, with an especially lovely display of huge red, white and pink peonies. All day Sunday a steady line of visitors wound in and around the artistically arranged tables of trail, delicately colored iris, sturdy, boxom-looking peonies, floppy scarlet poppies, fairy-like baby's breath, snuggling pansies, tiny forget-me-nots, and a variety of other flowers. In the center of the Armory scores of gold fish played in a large fish pool banked with moss, ferns and flowers, and fed by a fountain.

Commercial exhibits, including garden and porch furniture, evergreens, flowers, garden implements, and spring clothes, lined the walls. One of the most attractive commercial exhibits was that of Herman Holtz, who displayed a miniature home in a yard artistically landscaped with flower beds, shrubs, rock garden, bird bath, birdhouse, stone urns, pergola, and flagstone walk. Judges at the show were Adrian M. Berkens and Mrs. Charles Stribley, Kaukauna, William Knapstein, New London, Miss Anna Weimar and C. J. Beth.

Mrs. D. J. O'Connor was superintendent of the show, and Mrs. M. F. Hatch was in charge of prizes. Workers included Mrs. Charles Green, Mrs. Charles Mory, Miss Corna Guenther, Art Hantschel, Mrs. S. Lowell, Mrs. R. Spencer, Mrs. Frank Wright, and Miss Anna Weimar.

$2,000 DAMAGE CAUSED BY FIRE IN WAREHOUSE

Blaze Starts In Truck From Discarded Cigaret; Loss Covered By Insurance

Loss estimated at more than $2,000 was sustained at the Cohen Brothers Fruit and Produce company, 223 N. Clark-st., when fire started in the warehouse about 10:30 Saturday night. The blaze, according to Fire Chief George P. McGillan, evidently started in a truck from a discarded cigarette.

The fire quickly spread through empty crates and straw to the attic and a sub attic. Two lines of hose were laid and after a half hour the flames were extinguished. The loss of $2,000 is covered by insurance. The chief said that some loss might have been sustained by the Outagamie Equity association, whose warehouse adjoins the building where the fire started. The equity warehouse was filled with smoke but the fire did not break through. The building where the fire started is owned by the equity.

Chief McGillan said that the firemen did an excellent piece of work in stopping this blaze so quickly. There are several buildings close together in that section and if the blaze had broken through they might all have burned down, he pointed out. Other companies located in that district are the Fraser

Ralph Capone Gets 3-Year Sentence To Leavenworth

ALSO TO PAY $10,000 FINE IN TAX CASE

Brother Of "Scarface Al" Convicted Of Two Federal Fraud Charges

Chicago —(AP)— Ralph J. Capone, brother of Al "Scarface" Capone, today was sentenced to three years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kas., and fined $10,000 for having defrauded the government by filing false income tax returns. He was convicted of the charge on April 25.

Capone was convicted on two charges in connection with the alleged income tax frauds. On one count he was sentenced to serve three years at Leavenworth and fined $10,000; on the other, he was sentenced to two years in the Cook-county jail and fined another $10,000. The terms were made concurrent, however and the second $10,000 fine suspended.

Capone's trial and conviction followed several months of negotiations during which he pleaded insolvency and offered to compromise with the government for $1,000. This sum the government refused to accept. Government testimony showed Capone had maintained several separate bank accounts under assumed names and had deposited $1,871,000 from 1924 to 1929. His profits from gambling, bootlegging and other activities were estimated in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Before pronouncing sentence, Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson denied a motion for a new trial and a motion for arrest of judgment.

Capone was visibly affected when he realized he was due to spend the next three years in prison under the sentence. He seemed bewildered. Until a new bond was posted pending the outcome of an appeal filed by the gangster's attorney, Capone was locked in a cell, but it was believed he would be freed before night.

Miss June Kaufman, 17-year-old daughter of Mrs. Grace Kaufman, 514 N. Drew-st., was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital about 10 o'clock Saturday night with severe cuts on both legs as the result of an automobile accident. The girl, riding with her mother, was going east on Pacific when their car collided with a machine driven by J. M. Smith, 323 E. Winnebago-st., which was going north on Duane-st. Both cars were slightly damaged and Mrs. Kaufman was bruised. Miss Kaufman returned to her home Sunday.

HERE'S HOW $7 A DAY WORKER SPENDS MONEY

Washington —(AP)— What a $7 a day man in Detroit does with his money has become the concern of a league of nations agency and of the department of labor. It came about through Henry Ford's desire to have his workers in Europe enjoy the same standard of living as that of his employees in America.

He asked the international labor office at Geneva to help him and this in turn asked the labor department to inform it how well the $7 a day Detroit could live. It revealed the sum be reduced to quantities of food, clothing, rent, luxuries and other things.

The results have been transmitted to Geneva and the labor office there is now interpreting them in terms of European living costs.

The Ford study covered a hundred families. The husbands averaged 260 days yearly at $7 a day, with average expenditures for the family of $174.83.

This sum spent as follows: Food, $65.12, 23.3 per cent; clothing, $21.07, 12.2 per cent; housing, $28.81, 16.5 per cent; fuel and light, $19.20, 11.0 per cent; furnishings, $88.55, 5.2 per cent; minor and miscellaneous, $67.49, 21.7 per cent.

BANDITS TRY IN VAIN TO YIELD TO POSSE, GIVE UP TO SHERIFFS

Minidoka, Idaho —(AP)— Despite an unsuccessful effort to halt a passing posse so they might surrender, two alleged bank robbers were in the hands of Idaho sheriffs today, safe from the rigors of the Shoshone country.

Disappointed by the posse, the two men, Phillip Simons, 31, and Earl Ross, 30, trekked 50 miles and turned their attention to a freight train with better results.

Apparently near starvation they were removed from the train here last night by officers who said they confessed the $5,500 robbery of the First National bank of Wendell Wednesday.

Like shipwrecked mariners, the alleged bandits hoisted a white flag above their hiding place in a swamp Friday night. Simons told his captors, in a futile effort to attract the attention of a nearby posse.

The step was authorized last fall by the corporation which is the central unit in the group of railroads popularly known as the Van Sweringen lines, by reason of their control at the hands of O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen of Cleveland, and associates. It represents one of the first occasions on which a major railroad has resorted to a practice of altering capital structure which has become rather general in industrial corporation management.

Reasons for the change of stock values recited by the petition to the commission included mention of better marketability for the road's securities; increase in the number of stockholders; and finally, the prospect that popularization of its stock ownership would enable the obtaining of future capital supplies by issues of new stock, rather than by issues of bonds, which latter form of securities entail increasing debt against the railroad rather than wider sharing of its ownership among stockholders.

The Chesapeake and Ohio will have, if the split up is approved, nearly 8,000,000 shares of outstanding common stock.

Public taste in securities now calls for units having a market value of from $25 to $30, the petition continued, while existing Chesapeake and Ohio common stock has been selling at more than $200 per share.

"Experience has shown that reduction in market values of shares usually is accompanied by an increase of stockholders," the petition proceeded. "The ability of a corporation to raise capital by the sale of stock instead of funded indebtedness depends not only upon earnings of the corporation but also upon the marketability of its shares and the larger number of stockholders means greater marketability for the shares."

"Experience has also shown that corporations which deal largely with the general public benefit by increased participation of the public in the ownership of their capital stock."

There will be provided a large law library, and indispensable facility in the study and decision of law controversies.

The importance of the new building will not lie in providing a commodities court room, but in giving the members of the court adequate office rooms. For years most of them have been forced to do the onerous work of preparing opinions, at their homes without adequate library facilities.

NEW BATTLE LOOMS OVER WORLD COURT

Disposal Of London Naval Treaty Won't End Foreign Affairs Dispute

Washington —(AP)— Disposing of the London naval treaty at the special session, as it is expected to do, the senate will return in December to face another controversy over foreign affairs.

For more than a year the Root formula for American adherence to the world court intended to reconcile the opposing views of the senate and the nations already members, has lain in the vault of the state department. President Hoover plans to submit it for ratification early in the winter session.

First delayed to prevent its interference with the tariff and agriculture relief programs before congress, the Geneva protocol is now being held up by the chief executive to prevent it becoming linked with the naval pact.

Unyielding opposition awaits the protocol from the group of senators who have consistently opposed American participation in European affairs.

BORAH LEADS ATTACK Chairman Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee, who is supporting the naval treaty, will lead a determined attack against it and at his back he will have Senators Moses of New Hampshire, and Johnson of California, ranking Republicans of his committee.

This group unsuccessfully opposed American adherence when it was voted four years ago by 75 to 18 to ratify the treaty, four of which were acceptable to the nations already adhering.

The fifth was not acceptable. It stipulated the court should not without the consent of the United States entertain a request for an advisory opinion on a question in which America might have or claim an interest.

After the rejection of American entry on these terms, the revised protocol, which is to be submitted to the senate, was worked out at Geneva by Elihu Root, with the other nations approving.

Senator Swanson of Virginia, ranking Democrat on the foreign relations committee, and Senator Walsh of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, who originally sponsored the reservation, have agreed to accept the Root plan on the ground that it does not weaken the reservations.

There was much talk of who might be picked to take up the job of ending gang activities in Chicago. The name of General Charles G. Dawes, ambassador to Great Britain, was mentioned as a possible "dictator" for the city, but Ambassador Dawes, now a guest of Dwight W. Morrow at Englewood, N. J., indicated he had no intention of returning to Chicago for such a purpose.

PATH TO HIGHEST COURT BEING MADE SMOOTHER

Washington —(AP)— Work begins this week on a project the ultimate aim of which is the elimination of serious handicaps under which the members of the supreme court have worked for years.

This is in preparation for the erection of the new supreme court building, near the library of Congress. The immediate operations concerned the removal of buildings now occupying the selected site.

The importance of the new building will not lie in providing a commodities court room, but in giving the members of the court adequate office rooms. For years most of them have been forced to do the onerous work of preparing opinions, at their homes without adequate library facilities.

FAIR WEATHER WILL REPLACE WIND, RAIN

The weatherman has promised fair weather for tonight and Tuesday for Wisconsin.

After five days of threatening weather the sun smiled yesterday through the clouds to bring sportsmen and tourists forth. The low temperature Sunday was 65 degrees above zero, and climbed to 75 degrees for the high score.

The thermometer registered 61 degrees above zero this morning at 6 o'clock, and by noon had reached 63 degrees above.

RUSSELL RESIGNS CHICAGO POLICE POST

Miner, Gilday, Farwell or any of those reformers to comment on the situation. They say gambling, vice and saloons are running openly. You can't show me an open gambling house in Chicago. Of course, they may be betting over cigar counters but there are no open gambling spots.

"I engaged the best men in the profession, professors of the University of Chicago, for example, the ablest and most incorruptible men. I organized the traffic safety and the educational commission which effected a saving of more than 100 lives in a year. I have fought for more police, more cars and done everything to make Chicago a great city."

"But I have met insurmountable obstacles. By that, I mean prohibition and I don't give a damn who knows it."

"The reason I am resigning is to give them all a free hand and let them stick their noses into it and find out what they can. All this has made it impossible for me to function."

There was even talk among the various business, civic and religious groups that demands might be made for the resignation of William Hale Thompson as mayor.

The mayor was to meet today with his four closest political advisers—County Treasurer George Harding, Corporation Counsel Samuel Eitelson, Municipal Court Bailiff Bernard Snow, and Eugene R. Pike, former president of the Lincoln Park board.

Three other meetings of the day promised to have an important bearing upon the immediate future of the administration's police policy. A group of business leaders was called to meet with Col. Robert L. Kane, president of the association of commerce, to determine a definite plan for "purifying Chicago politics." Leading clergymen were to meet for the same purpose.

There was much talk of who might be picked to take up the job of ending gang activities in Chicago. The name of General Charles G. Dawes, ambassador to Great Britain, was mentioned as a possible "dictator" for the city, but Ambassador Dawes, now a guest of Dwight W. Morrow at Englewood, N. NATIONALISTS AGAIN DEFEATED BY REBELS

Shanghai —(AP)— Indications that the Nationalist government forces defending the tricolored flag of Hankow, Wuchang and Yangtze against the thrusts of two rebel armies had suffered their second reverse in three days appeared today in Japanese advices from Hankow.

The reports said the eastern wing of the rebellious Northern Alliance forces had made a sharp advance southward to Shumiatien, about 225 miles north of the three cities, on the Peking-Hankow railway. Nationalist forces were said to be withdrawing.

That the military forces of Manchuria might be sent to the aid of the Nationalists was hinted yesterday in Chinese dispatches from Mukden. Chang Hsueh-Liang, governor of Manchuria, was quoted as having threatened to hurl his troops against the northern rebels unless the latter accepted his offer to mediate between the Nationalists and the Peiping alliance.

Woman Recovers Pet; Makes Sheriff Happy

Sheriff John Lappen Monday morning listened eagerly for a court decision which would remove from his hands a small bundle of trouble—a hound dog which he has been holding at the county jail since last Friday on a writ of replevin.

The writ was secured by Mrs. M. Gieselman, Appleton, who last week saw the dog on the street with Mrs. John Kobussen.

Mrs. Gieselman claimed that 14 years ago the dog was given to her as a present by Albert Gallun, one of her boarders. She fed the dog, loved it and protected it for 12 years, she alleged. Then Gallun left, she said, and he took the dog away. For two years the dog has been missing but last week Mrs. Gieselman said, she recognized her dog in the company of Mrs. Kobussen. She trailed Mrs. Kobussen to her home and there secured the writ of replevin.

The dog was taken to the jail. Gallun, who is now boarding with Mrs. Kobussen, told the court that Mrs. Gieselman had no claim on the dog but that she had merely cared for it. She retailed with the story of how Gallun had given her the dog as a gift. The judge decided the dog belonged to Mrs. Gieselman, and she went home satisfied.

BOY SCOUTS, ELKS PAY TRIBUTE TO COUNTRY'S FLAG

Mayor John Diener Of Green Bay Principal Speaker On Program

Reverent and glowing tribute to the red, white and blue was paid jointly with an elaborate flag ceremony and pageant by valley council boy scouts and members of the Elks club at the mammoth Camp O'Ral demonstration of 400 youngsters at the Elks park Saturday evening. Mayor John Diener of Green Bay was the principal speaker.

During the entire ceremony and pageant the 120th Field Artillery band, under the direction of E. P. Mumm, played selections appropriate for the occasion. Twenty boy scouts selected from approximately 15 troops from Appleton, Menasha, Clintonville and other surrounding cities took part in the pageant in which they presented flags marking the development of the present American banner. The flags were donated by the Elks club.

BRITISH PRO TOPS EARLY QUALIFIERS AT OPEN TOURNEY

Leo Diegel Is Second Low; Jones Gets 73, Horton Smith 75

Hoyle, Eng. —(AP)— V. T. Twine of Bromley, former Kent professional champion, led the field in the first qualifying round for the British open golf championship with a score of 68 today. Leo Diegel, Auga Caliente, Mexico, Jimmy Bradbeer and Archie Compton, British pros, were tied for second with scores of 70.

Diegel's 70 equalled the course record for the Royal Liverpool club and later Compton also established a tie for the record.

Twine's 68 was scored over the Wallace course. Those who played the Royal Liverpool today will move over to Wallace tomorrow while the others will shift to the Royal Liverpool at the eighteenth for 69 which would have been a new record.

George von Elm, playing at Wallace today a brilliant 71. Bobby Jones at Royal Liverpool scored 73. Don Moe had a safe 75 at Wallace as did Horton Smith. Jim Barnes and MacDonald Smith each scored 77, regarded as good enough tomorrow. Barnes played at Royal Liverpool and MacDonald at Wallace.

Cyril Tolley led the British amateurs with a score of 72.

HEALTH CENTER IS PLANNED TOMORROW

Preschool children will be examined at a county health center at Hortonville Tuesday. Examinations under the direction of Dr. Eleanor Hutchinson and Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, will begin at 9 o'clock in the morning.

The county health centers are credited with bringing into use in many families a new kind of baby book, one that furnishes a record of the baby's health and development through infancy and childhood. The oldtime custom was to mark the child's height on the door jamb, that he might note with pride his growth from birthday to birthday. Now his gain in weight and height are noted on his health record at regular intervals. The dates of his vaccination and diphtheria immunization are also recorded. This first step in determining his physical condition is followed by a complete physical examination.

SANTE FE-ATCHISON RAILROAD BONDS ARE GIVEN HIGH RATING

All Are Sold On Low Yield Basis—Rank Among Half Dozen Highest

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
Copyright 1930 by Cons. Press.
New York—Called the Atchison in Wall Street and known as the Sante Fe in the territory it serves, the securities of no other American railroad have a better claim to an investment rating. All its bonds sell on a low yield basis ranging from 4.25 to 4.50 per cent. Atchison general 4s of 1935 rank among the half dozen highest grade of investment bonds.

With one exception no Atchison bond has any speculative quality and the market price fluctuates with money rates and not with earnings of the debtor corporation. The exception is the convertible 4s issued late in 1928 and offered for subscription to stockholders. On and after December 1, next these bonds are convertible into common stock of the Atchison in the ratio of six shares for each $1,000 bond and the quotation for them moves with that for the stock. Financial institutions which are prevented by law from buying stocks purchase these bonds and put themselves in a position to benefit by any improvement in the prices of the stock.

Atchison preferred stock which is of $100 par, pays 5 per cent and is noncumulative sells consistently above par to yield less than 4.75 per cent. It ranks in investment quality with Union Pacific preferred and Norfolk and Western preferred. Atchison common now paying $10 annually sold above 208 in 1929 and has never been available this year so far to yield as much as 5 per cent.

Like other large systems, the Atchison has suffered large losses in both gross and net during 1930 to date. In April net for the month was the lowest in eight years. Gross made a better showing but that was because of the inclusion this year of earnings of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient. It will take time even for the Atchison management to build up the earning power of this subsidiary acquired a year ago. A factor of importance in analyzing current income statements is the fact that the Atchison has made no effort to curtail maintenance to conform with the heavy drop in traffic. Meanwhile, there is not the slightest doubt about the safety of the $10 dividend. Even with the lower figures now being reported it is estimated that the road will earn $17 or $18 for the common stock this year. The fact that purchasers are willing to pay so high a price for the stock in the face of declining car loadings is testimony to their faith in the future of the property.

PANELS DANGLE ON NEW SLEEVES

Coats As Well As Dresses Carry This Latest Effect, It Appears

BY AILEEN LAMONT

New York — Panels are dangling from the latest sleeves, not only on dresses but also on coats. A semi-sports coat has a square panel of the goods which hangs from the upper half of the sleeve, in a sort of divided cape effect. Many afternoon frocks have panelled sleeves that hark back pretty nearly to the angel sleeves of blessed memory.

Now that dull fabric slippers are in vogue, the designers are thinking up buckles to brighten them. Small, butterfly buckles of brilliants perch on the vamp. Or—as an extra help in keeping the dancing pump on the foot—you may prefer a jeweled bracelet effect, which crosses the instep and snaps to each side of the slipper.

One different evening frock is of pale yellow taffeta, shading to silver, with twenty horizontal rows of narrow lace ruffles extending from waistline to hem. The frock is sleeveless, but with it there goes a hip-length jacket of the lace, which is silk and blond. Daintily girlish is about the right description.

IRISH CASINO RIVAL TO MONTE CARLO

Dublin—Ireland is to have a gambling casino which will rival Monte Carlo. It is said.

Backed by a group of English financiers, it is to be located at Bray, the seaside resort about 12 miles from here. It is to be pretentious, will have a "paradise" garden, and amusements which are not found at the island resort.

Present plans call for the expenditure of more than $300,000 in preparation, grading and surveying of the site.

Expect Prohibition To Paramount Issue—Morrow Is Working Hard

Newark, N. J.—(AP)—In a notable contest for the republican nomination for United States senator, New Jersey has placed prohibition as the paramount issue.

Standing for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and restoration to individual states the right to determine their attitude on liquor traffic is Dwight Morrow, classmate of Calvin Coolidge, ambassador to Mexico, and a delegate to the London naval conference.

Morrow will be opposed at the primary June 17, by Representative Franklin W. Fort, formerly secretary of the republican national committee, and floor leader of the forces that nominated Hoover. Fort unequivocally advocates continuance of the present prohibition laws.

Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, intimate of Harding when he was president, and formerly a member of the senate, seeks the nomination on a platform advocating control by the government of the liquor traffic, and John A. Kelly, the fourth contestant,

Sez Hugh:

IT'S WISE TO PUT THE VACATION THINGS YOU WANT USE IN THE BOTTOM OF THE TRUNK!

designated himself as a "regular republican opposed to prohibition."

As is frequently the case, there is no opposition in the democratic primary. Alexander Simpson, formerly a state senator, seeks the long term and Miss Thelma Parkinson, a delegate to the democratic national convention in 1928, as striving for the short term.

Men Exonerated In Bank Robbery Case Examine Witnesses Here

Mrs. George Peters, wife of the cashier of the State Bank of Black Creek, B. J. Zuchlik and Matt Schub, Appleton, were examined Friday afternoon before Judge Fred V. Helme, acting as a court commissioner, in proceedings started by Larry Lawrence and E. H. Stewart, Chicago, who were tried here several weeks ago on a charge of holding up the Black Creek bank and freed during their trial when a man at St. Paul confessed having committed the holdup.

The action under the discovery statute is intended to determine whether there might be grounds for action against the witnesses who testified against the two men.

Lawrence and Stewart, employees of a Chicago company, went through Black Creek the day of the holdup and tested the bank. After they left the institution was held up by armed men who escaped. Lawrence was arrested at Peoria and Miss Peters failed to make positive identification of him. Later, when he and Stewart learned court authorities were investigating them they voluntarily gave themselves up and came here to stand trial. During the trial a man arrested in Minnesota admitted he robbed the bank.

SENATORIAL NUISANCE

If there is one man in the United States senate who can make himself a public nuisance it is the senior senator from Wisconsin, John J. Blaine. He is brutal and obnoxious in his treatment of those who disagree with him. He is offensive to witnesses called to testify before committees of which he is a member and is constantly taking distorted and unintelligent positions on public policies. Although the committee which is investigating lobbying, including its chairman, has exonerated Bishop Cannon of alleged contempt because he refused to answer certain questions which were clearly outside its jurisdiction, Mr. Blaine delivers a diatribe against the bishop and works himself into a frenzy over "senatorial honor."

Mr. Blaine had heckled Bishop Cannon for days to no end and beyond all reason and when the witness finally refused with good ground to submit to further torture, the Wisconsin senator almost burst with rage. Pounding the table with his fist in exhorting the committee to cite the Bishop for contempt he shouted: "The integrity of the law of the land is at stake—not the integrity of this little committee." Contrary to Mr. Blaine's idea the country is not worrying about the controversy with Bishop Cannon, nor is it greatly impressed with the "exalted honor" of the senate itself. Its opinion of the senate is daily getting lower and lower. Mr. Blaine makes himself ridiculous by this cheap and farcical attempt to attract the favor of fanatical wet forces and to satisfy a rancorous disposition.

MR. LEGGE SERVES A YEAR

Chairman Alexander H. Legge of the Federal Farm board today completes a year of service with that agency. Throughout his direction of the board and its activities he has been criticized and attacked by the grain marketing interests of the country. He has been in frequent collision with the United States Chamber of Commerce and its president, Julius Barnes.

All of the private interests affected by the attempt to put the farmer in control of his own industry and restore agriculture to a state of prosperity have violently opposed the board's operations. This was to be expected because certain private interests will lose, may even have to go out of business, if cooperative marketing of agricultural products is successfully set up. Where the two are in conflict it is the private marketing interests which must go, for the conservation of agriculture and its prosperity are of infinitely greater importance than interests which clash with it.

Mr. Legge deserves the gratitude of the country, and particularly of the farmer, for his fidelity to the responsibility he has accepted. He has not permitted the attacks upon him to influence his policy or his purposes. He has pursued his way steadfastly and courageously. Probably the president could have made no better selection for the head of the Farm board than Mr. Legge. Furthermore, there are very few men who occupy the position in private life and command the income of Mr. Legge that would be willing to sacrifice themselves to the worries and abuses he has had to endure in discharging this public service. President Hoover has reappointed him for another year, and it is greatly to be hoped he may be induced to serve. His reappointment now would be a heavy loss to the farmers and would detrimentally affect the carrying out of the government program for farm relief under the new act selected by congress.

WADING INTO DEEP WATER

The senate group which is trying to defeat the London naval treaty has through its membership on the foreign relations committee asserted its right by a vote of 10 to 7, with three members not voting, to the papers denied it by President Hoover. No demand is made upon the president to produce the documents, and it is unlikely that he will produce them. The opposition to the treaty will make a great fuss over the incident. It will try to convince the public that the president is concealing something suspicious or derogatory to the agreement in the negotiations which brought it about. The country ought not to take this contention seriously. It is just an excuse to raise prejudices that will prevent ratification. The treaty can be adequately judged by its provisions. They are clear and definite.

Regardless of private exchanges between Mr. Hoover and Ramsay MacDonald, it is only the terms of the treaty that count. The senatorial mind which cannot understand the treaty or comprehend its effects does not seek understanding. It has pre-judged the treaty in advance and is against it for one or more of the shallow criticisms to which it has been subjected. The senatorial cabal which seeks to destroy the London treaty is wading out into deep water. The first thing it knows it will be in over its head for American public opinion has no patience with jingoism and political conspiracy which treats with contempt a momentous undertaking in behalf of peace and reduction of oppressive and menacing armament. The people want the treaty ratified, and without delay.

Secretary Stimson comes back at the treaty opponents by charging that they represent the tendency "of the professional military viewpoint," which is narrow and covers only a portion of the field involved in this undertaking. He says the treaty is "one of the great victories for peace" and that it is a step in the vitalization of the Kellogg-Briand pact. He says that the opposition comes mainly from extremists among the professional warriors and jingoes of each country, while the "civilian population is giving it overwhelming support." All of which is the truth.

HUBER FINDS THE FLAW AT LAST

The Wisconsin supreme court has decided that there is no provision of law, that is no enactment of the legislature, which authorizes it to speed the filing of the complaint against Lieutenant Governor Huber although about four months have elapsed since the appointment of counsel by the governor for that purpose. Mr. Huber says that this condition of affairs indicates that the laws of Wisconsin should be amended so that a person under charges for alleged violation of the corrupt practices act may force a speedier trial of the action against him. That appears to be true.

But is it not rather odd that Mr. Huber, one of the rulers of the state and the makers of its laws, did not learn of this discrepancy in our statutes until he personally found that he could not have done what he wanted done? Isn't it odd, to express the minimum, that Mr. Huber never made any such statement about the deficiencies in our laws during the period of nine months that Mr. Kohler was waiting for the filing of charges against him? And during all that nine months didn't Mr. Huber lose a fine chance to have the laws amended because during six of the nine months the legislature was in session? Can we not have the flaws in our legislative enactments corrected until they seem to hurt a Progressive who goes on the warpath and rails loudly against them?

The necessity for speedy justice and particularly concerning alleged violations of the corrupt practices act is quite apparent even if such an amendment can only be obtained when Progressive toes are stepped upon. Mr. Huber presents now, as usual, a good example of a man with excellent hindsight. But governments need men in responsible positions who can see at least a few feet ahead.

Today's Anniversary

"LEAD, KINDLY LIGHT"
On June 16, 1823, Cardinal John Henry Newman wrote while crossing the Mediterranean sea the famous hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light." A brilliant man in the Church of England, beloved and admired for his character and great gifts, Newman nevertheless became a doubter of Protestantism. So he was moved to write:
Lead, kindly light, amid the encircling gloom,
Lead Thou me on.
The night is dark, and I am far from home,
Lead Thou me on.
Keep Thou my feet; I do not ask to see
The distant scene; one step enough for me.
Nine years after he wrote this, Cardinal Newman retired to the little village of Littlemore, where he passed three years in seclusion wrestling in silence with his attitude toward the church. Emerging from his retirement Newman became a convert to the Roman Catholic church.
In 1879 Leo XIII created Newman a cardinal, allowing him to reside in England.

THIS MEDICAL LIBERTY SQUAW IS A SMOKE SCREEN

The hard licker party is not shouting so much about personal liberty lately. The noise, perhaps, did not promote business. But we still hear vague blessings and grumblings from obscure sources about medical liberty, whatever that may be.

I, for one should fight to the last breath such an atrocity as compulsory vaccination of myself or my children if I did not approve of vaccination. And I believe and assert that health authorities who by means of trickery, compel some people to submit to vaccination against their will, are narrow, bigoted and untrustworthy officers of the state. It is trickery, mean and contemptible when the state has one law compelling attendance at school, and another excluding children who are not vaccinated. No honest physician or health authority or sanitary expert can justify this shameful class legislation and legitimate persecution. So far as "medical liberty" opposes or resists such injustice I am for it and with it, though I like to help myself and those who depend on my advice well vaccinated.

"Medical liberty" implies that citizens' right to choose their own healers or physicians or methods of treatment or remedies is imperiled. It implies that one "school," guild, clique or group of physicians is monopolizing the healing business, scheming to compel every one to employ only the one kind of doctor, regular, medical, allopathic call him what you will.

How much actual truth is there in this frightful idea? Darn little. I regret to say. I wish there were reasonable ground for it. At least, I wish the state were far enough advanced to fix some sort of minimum standard of qualification for healers and make every person who would practice healing comply with the requirements in order to obtain his license. That simple, straightforward plan of licensure would be fair to every one concerned and it would put an end to a vast amount of chicanery that is now foisted on the unprotected public.

The charlatans, quacks, nostrum vendors and mail order swindlers who contribute most of the medical liberty propaganda know well enough that they must feed and stimulate popular ignorance, misinformation and prejudice against regular, reputable, recognized physicians—recognized by the state—in order to postpone as long as possible such regulation of the healing business by the state, for the regular medical profession alone seeks and advocates such standards and it will be a sad day for these "medical liberty" chaps when the state does cut out the fooling and the grafting and sets up an honest test for would be healers.

Certain kinds of alleged religion are neither recognized nor tolerated by the state or the government; mormonism, for instance. Does any "liberty" organization conduct a campaign of slander and abuse against those religious faiths which are recognized by the state on the ground that the accepted religions seek to prevent citizens from practicing mormonism?

The shady gentry supporting the "medical liberty" racket merely use it as a smoke screen to blind prospective patrons to the truth.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Horse Dander Coryza
I am not a proficient horseback rider, but the several times I have tried riding I have been affected as though by a severe cold in the head. My eyes close up and I weep constantly. The instructor thinks it is a kind of hay fever and that I might be inoculated against it. (H. K.)

Answer—By means of skin tests a physician can determine whether you are sensitized or hypersensitive to horse dander, horse hair or other things with which you may come in contact when you take riding lessons. If the source can be determined, probably you can be immunized against it by a series of gradually increasing homeopathic doses of the extract of the specific substance. Evaporated Milk Is Wholesome Is the "evaporated milk" of the dairy companies wholesome? What ingredients are added in the process of evaporation? Stains it makes on cloth will not wash out. My nurse advised against its use when I was ill recently. (C. M.)

Answer—Nothing is added to unsweetened evaporated milk. I am unable to tell you why it stained cloth. Evaporated milk is quite wholesome though I should advise pure, raw milk in preference, for all who can have pure fresh milk, say certified milk.

Unmentionable Symptoms Please mention in your column some of the symptoms of sinus trouble. I am very nervous, dizzy, blurred spots before my eyes . . . (L. L.)

Answer—What, and start an epidemic? No brother, this being a health column we cannot provide readers with symptoms. My advice to any one with such symptoms as you mention is to forget amateur diagnosis and complain to a physician.

Why Children Must Be Early Abed Why do children have to go to bed at quarter to 8 every night when you are 10 years old? (Jean B., 10 years old) Please answer.

Answer—At 10 you require 11 hours in bed every night, Jean. So you have to hit the cornstalks by 9 o'clock if you get up at 8 in the morning. In the hot summer I'd let you stay up till 9:30 or 10 o'clock at night, sometimes. If you were my kid, in the cold weather I'd want you all tucked in by 8:30 or 9 o'clock at the latest. The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

THE bonfire blazed up toward the sky. 'Twas fun to watch it flare so high. A lot of people gathered 'round and soon began to sing. The air was filled with harmony and shortly Scooty said, "Oh, gee! These get-togethers sure are fine. What happiness they bring!"

Soon Scooty jumped up to his feet and cried, "I'll give you all a treat. I'll sing a fine song by myself if you will all be still!" "You bet we will," the whole bunch said. "If you can sing, go right ahead. We'll let you warble loudly until we have had our fill!"

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—Between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets on Pennsylvania avenue is to be erected a fountain at a cost of about a million dollars.

It is to be a gift to the capital city of the United States—an expression of appreciation from the state of Pennsylvania that Washington's principal street was given its name.

The idea was born in the mind of a Pennsylvania woman now living in Washington.

Three years after the site is definitely decided on the fountain must be completed.

Now, it is generally understood that it will be placed in the big central square provided in the plans for improvement of the avenue shortly to be started.

CONGRESS ACTS CAREFULLY One would think that such a gift would be accepted with alacrity. Far from it. Congress looked long and searchingly into the mouth of this gift horse before it agreed finally to accept it.

Well does it know from past experience with such matters that performance has not always been up to enthusiasm shown at the beginning.

Right now in some basement around Washington in storage is the beautiful Centennial fountain which grounds at Philadelphia shortly after the centennial exhibition.

Acquisition of a suitable spot must be awaited before it is erected. Down in the Mall someone started a memorial hall project that now lies dormant.

Determined was congress that no such fate should befall projects on Pennsylvania avenue. It made sure that Pennsylvania's gift would be worthy of the location before it agreed to accept the fountain.

CRAMTON "CAGEY"

Despite all assurances, Louis Cramton insisted that it be put down in black and white that the fountain gift be adequate for the site designated.

"Who knows?" he said. "Instead of being a million it might be only $10,000. But the site would have been designated."

Someone else couldn't get it through his head why a private society should want to spend a million dollars for a fountain and wanted to know the significance.

When told that the primal motive was patriotic loyalty, he shook his head and remarked:

"I fear the school children hereafter will be asked to contribute their pennies for this object."

Big Johnny Schaefer wanted to be sure that it was no racketeering scheme—50 per cent going to those who collected the million.

And it was not until his good friend Florentino LoGuardia assured him that he decided not to object to the gift.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

Among the jobs you think you'd like but wouldn't is that of stage doorman. They work 12 hours a day for about $25 a week, and the toughest part of all, get to see the pretty girls ride away in the motors of men who have lots while they stay away another hour going home to the Bronx or Queens.

A chain of fancy restaurants, with a French twist, boasts of its fresh vegetables. It is the pet idea of Henry Lustig, vegetable wholesaler, who opened the first 12 years ago.

He also takes responsibility for introducing here the continental custom of adding a 10 per cent tip to the check and thinks it amusing that New York makes better French ice cream than Paris.

Richard B. Harrison, the Negro "Lord" of the Pulitzer prize play, "The Green Pastures," a few Sundays ago read the Twenty-third Psalm to the congregation of J. P. Morgan's family church (St. George's Episcopal).

COIFFEURS

Women of fashion are partial to male hairdressers, usually insisting on the same Jean, Carl or Henri setting their water waves every time. Sometimes the good and faithful servants are rewarded with expensive presents, in one instance, at least, an automobile.

One of a trio of once fashionable men milliners, has given up his art to run a restaurant.

Sky scrapers are becoming showy, with each new one trying to outdo all the rest.

Golden pinnacles are no longer novelties. Even the New York Central building's fantastic peak of intricate design is less dazzling than when it first blazed out like a flash into the heavens over a jewel-sprinkled fairy castle high above Park avenue.

Now the Empire State building is to flash into the heavens over the site of the old Waldorf like a Damascus sword. The skyscraper which Alfred E. Smith intends to make the tallest in the world is to have the first metal front of any office building.

Pithy Sayings

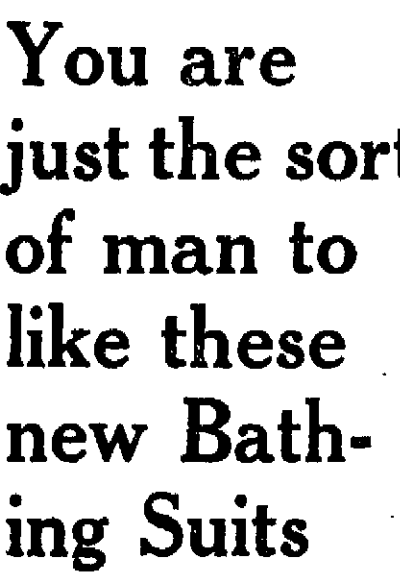

"Modernism leads to internationalism; internationalism leads to communism; communism leads to anarchism and anarchism leads to destruction."
—Rev. Walter A. Maier of St. Louis.

"Women are less troubled by disturbing dreams than men—probably because they have less work and worry."
—Dr. Bernard Hollander, British alienist.

"Man is not made happy nor does he progress by realism alone. You've got to delude yourself a little bit."
—George Jean Nathan, critic.

"There is today in the world no great poet, no great philosopher, no great religious leader."
—Nicholas Murray Butler.

"It is easier to be sentimental than to be intelligent."
—William Lloyd Phelps.

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE Sue that emerged from the dress and coat shop was not the one who had entered. She had been sweet and lovely with questioning blue eyes and soft colors that matched their dreams.

There was more snap, fewer dreams, in the girl who came out, but a glorious breathlessness that was youth, which danced around her. She had found a beret of soft black material which topped a band of turquoise-blue grosgrain ribbon which lay in a flat bow at the back. Her dress, which was black tweed, as soft as Barbara's, followed a coat design. Black breitschwantz bordered the peplum and formed a draped scarf and made huge, soft cuffs. There was a narrow belt at the high waistline, and the skirt, with its suggestion of a flair, was the approved length. Her simple black coat was not out of keeping with it, nor her gloves and dull black slippers with steel buckles fastening the one strap.

Sue felt that people were watching her as she went into the tea room. Maybe because she looked well, she thought. Perhaps because she was the girl who had been engaged to Harry Becker, whose sister had turned the tables. It really didn't matter.

She sat down and ordered a plate lunch... assorted sandwiches with fruit salad and hot chocolate. An orchestra, at the far end of the room, started to spill liquid melodies about moons and stars and girls and roses.

Sue wished somebody she knew would come in and join her. She wished she had asked her mother to come down town to lunch with her. She wondered why she had not. Then she remembered that it was because she had forgotten that she no longer need to have lunch ready for Corrinne.

Sue was half way through with her lunch when Barbara and Jack entered the dining room. Sue admitted to herself, with a guilty discomfort, that she had chosen this particular tea room because she had been rather sure that it was the place to which Jack and Barbara would come. She had to admit that there was feminine witchery in the girl who was going to marry Jack Thornton. She was a painted doll in a show case, she reflected. So pretty that no one would stop to think that she was stuffed with savdust. Jack was very adoring, eager to please, openly complimentary.

She stopped to speak to them as they passed through the room, and Barbara's eyes were coquettish and bright for all of them. Sue wanted the couple to see her... and didn't want them to.

She was only stenographer in the Thornton office, she told herself again. Jack had a right to marry any girl he pleased, and she had

Henry Lunz, of the seed and weed department of the state agricultural department, was expected to attend the afternoon session and discuss the new laws. The meeting here today is similar to those being held in other counties in the state.

been seven kinds of an idiot and dumbbell and fool to think that he had ever had a chance. She would even have excused if he ever offered to drive her home. She hoped he would get married very soon. The wedding would have such a mark of finality. She would feel better when she knew that he was gone... absolutely gone.

Maybe she would get another job, too. Her cherry-red lips curved into ghost of a smile at that. She knew that she would stay and type his letters as long as he needed her.

But she would be independent. On that she was determined. Jack Thornton was not going to know that she had ever loved him. She would be more than a piece of office furniture or nothing! Almost right away she had an opportunity to put her new theory into practice.

SILENCE PENALTY IS METED OUT TO KANSAS STATION

Radio Commission Objects To "Medical Programs" Of KFKB

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Washington — The extreme radio penalty of perpetual silence has been meted out to station KFKB, at Milford, Kansas, because of "medical programs" it has broadcast on regular schedule, evidently construed to be inimical to the public health.

Without assigning its reason, the federal radio commission has denied the station continued operation after next Friday. Two commissioners, however, E. O. Sykes and Ira E.
Robinson, voted against the summary removal but proposed a probationary license for the station with stipulations that it omit certain of its program practices.

The majority's action, which prevents, brings to an end the broadcasts of Dr. John R. Brinkley, of the most little thriving business in physical rejuvenation operations
by the transplanting of glands. Dr.
Brinkley has a hospital at Milford,
a town of 300 population, and also an interest in the station.

It was on the complaint of the American Medical association and other organized interests that the station was halted before the commission.

RAN "QUESTION BOX"
Charges that Dr. Brinkley conducted a "medical question box"
over the station several times each day and prescribed his own medicines by number to listeners who wrote in, were made and admitted.
These medicines are obtainable only at drug-stores which are members of the Brinkley Pharmaceutical association, located in four middle western states.

The commission's action is the second along this line within a fortnight. Just two weeks ago it refused to renew the license of station KVEP, at Portland, Ore., over which Oregon's self-styled "wild cat," Robert G. Duncan, was alleged to have impugned the characters of leading citizens of that city with epithets of profanity.

But station KVEP used only 15
watts power, while KFKB uses 5-000 watts during daylight hours. Its capital investment is far greater,
and the courts may view from a different aspect the commission's summary action. George Strong, counsel for the Milford station, said he would appeal immediately to the court of appeals here and ask for an order to stay the effect of the commission's decision until the court has decided the case.

That the commission's action borders on the exercise of program censorship seems apparent. The radio law specifically forbids the commission to censor programs. But it does say that the commission shall construe program merit in the general public service of any station, and may deny a station renewal of license if its all-around service is not up to prescribed standards.

2,000 PIGS CHANGE HANDS DURING FAIR
Prices Range From $4 To $7
—Dealers Appear From Throughout Valley

BY W. F. WINNEY
Kaukauna — Two thousand pigs
from four to ten weeks old changed owners at the Kaukauna Fair Saturday forenoon, at prices ranging from $4 to $7 each. Dealers were on the grounds from Green Bay, Appleton, Neenah, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Madison, Stoughton and many other cities early in the morning before the farmers had loaded their pigs and started for the fair. These dealers loaded their truck with pigs,
although many animals to sell elsewhere were sold to other farmers who were short of pigs. Mixed lots brought in by farmers were usually sorted according to color and size
by buyers.

About 500 broilers, old hens and roosters, were brought to the grounds and a large proportion of them were sold at from 75 cents to $1.50. Offers of from 75 cents to $1.25 were made on some of a total of 200 rabbits. Full grown ducks sold from 75 cents to $1.25 and there were about 50 on the grounds.
Animals offered for sale were pups,
dogs and goats in limited numbers.
The sales probably totaled in the neighborhood of $12,500. At least 500 farmers were on the grounds and in the vicinity of the fair and the streets in every direction were lined with parked automobiles and trucks. Stock fair day at Kaukauna is a great get-together day for the merchants and farmers of the community.

Two Presidents Revive Lagging Social Program

BY DOROTHEA J. LEWIS
(Post-Crescent's Washington Society Editor)

Washington—Two presidents-elect
in two weeks!
That is something of a record in distinguished visitors, even for Washington, and it has succeeded in livening the national capital's lagging social season.

Dr. Julio Prestes, president-elect of Brazil, arrived in Washington Wednesday. During his stay he was accorded full military honors due a president, and Thursday evening was guest of honor at a stag dinner at the White House. Mrs. Hoover is recovering from her recent indisposition at the President's Rapidan camp, and Dr. Prestes' wife did not accompany him to this country because of illness.

The story of Dr. Prestes' arrival in this country with American ships firing the 21-gun salute of honor, was told over the radio Wednesday night from Union station here when Dr. Prestes made his fog-delayed arrival. The broadcast was both in English and Portuguese, the language of Brazil and went out over a network covering this country and spreading even to Brazil. The Army band began it all with the stirring and thunderous Brazilian national anthem.

Dr. Enrique Olaya, president-elect of Colombia, was accorded similar honors just the week before.

Another Wisconsin birthday in Washington, Wednesday, and a surprise luncheon with a birthday cake to celebrate this one. It was the birthday of Mrs. James A. Frear, wife of Representative Frear of Hudson, and Mrs. Henry Allen Cooper, wife of Representative Cooper of Racine, was the hostess.

Mrs. Frear supposed that she was attending a quiet little luncheon with her friend, Mrs. Cooper, only to be confronted by 12 guests, including Mrs. Edward E. Browne, wife of Representative Browne of Waupaca, Mrs. John C. Schafer, wife of Representative Schafer of Milwaukee, and other members of the Wisconsin congressional delegation who are still in town. The gleaming birthday cake was the highlight of the afternoon.

George Middleton, playwright and husband of Fola La Follette spent the weekend with the La Follettes in Washington. Mr. Middleton had come east from California, where he is connected with the motion picture industry, to attend the funeral of his mother who died in New York.
Fola La Follette remained in California and Mr. Middleton left Tuesday for the west coast.

of the newly appointed Chief of Ordinance, Major General Hof, entertained at luncheon Tuesday in hon-sion was held. This was followed by an afternoon of amusements.

RUSSIANS IN FRANCE

who fled to this country when the

and other occupations.

Among the callers at the Milwaukee consular office last week were Fred Schlitz and Ray J. Cannon, both of Milwaukee.

Dr. Delos O. Kinsman, formerly of Appleton and head of the Economics Department at American University, left Washington Friday for New York and sailed Saturday morning on the Conte Biancamano for Genoa. He will go directly to Oberammergau to witness the "Passion Play." Then he will go on to Berlin and will meet on July 7 about 20 other economists with whom he will spend 45 days in Russia studying economic and industrial conditions there. From Russia he will journey to Poland, sailing from Danzig on August 19, stopping at Helsinki, Finland and arriving in New York about September 21.

Webb Gibbs of Chicago, formerly of La Crosse visited his cousin Mrs.
James E. Tibbitts in Somerset, Md., near Washington Sunday. He is on a motoring trip.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Fortune and their daughter, Gladys, of Kaukauna spent several days last week sightseeing in Washington. They called on Rep. Melvin L. Hull of Black River Falls at his Capitol office.

John R. Hurlbut and his sister
Mary, of Kaukauna, called on Sen.
Robert M. La Follette Jr. as they stopped in Washington on their way to Europe. They are the children of the late Judge Hurlbut.

Yet, to be polite,

She said:

He didn't suspect that 'B.O.' stood between him and success until—

why was his record so poor? Why was it the polite name for body odor. Suggested a simple safeguard... Now he's one of the crack salesmen in the organization—

salary and commissions mounting fast.
"B.O." no longer bars him from success.

BURGLARS LOOT SNEESBY HOUSE; SILVER STOLEN

Entire Residence Is Ransacked; Fingerprints Are Only Clues

New London — Burglars entered the home of the Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Sneesby, Naasau-st during their absence last week, removing the entire supply of sterling silver and the loss was discovered when the family returned from a visit to their former home at Lake Geneva at the end of the week and found the front door open.

A quick investigation showed that some one had worked slowly and painstakingly over the house examining letter files, drawers and even opening boxes of stationery. From the buffet in the dining room, the crumpled choice had been used, while a complete set of sterling silver in sets of eight was gone.

In the study drawers had been opened and their contents strewn about. A gun case high on a book case had been lowered to the floor. In this room the thief left a number of distinct fingerprints which may serve as clues. Nothing of value was removed here. Upstairs the same deliberate prying had been carried out, a trunk being left intact. In the attic trunks containing used clothing still unpacked had been gone through.

The residence is located at a street intersection where a street light throws a bright light during the night. It would have been impossible for a person to work without the aid of more than a flash light since the front rooms are quite brightly lighted. Clothing and linen remained untouched and from the upper rooms only the most valuable of dressing table fittings and jewelry were taken. Small amounts of money were removed from the two banks of the Sneesby children, Jack and Katherine.

That the marauder was discerning is shown in the fact that silver which might be easily traced was left behind, and there are few indications that the work was not that of an adult. Police of this city are investigating. Mr. and Mrs. Sneesby have resided here only two months.

Victors Score Six Runs In First Inning — Readfield Nine Next

New London — For the second time this year New London defeated Murphy's Corners at baseball at Murphy's Corners Sunday, 9 to 6. The home team got off with a bang in the first inning, slugging over six men. Single, the opposing pitcher, helped things along by hitting Sweeney and Magolski Westphal was the only batter who did not see first base, Pete striking out. Murphy Corners got three hits on the second inning which netted them one run. In the fourth inning they caught up to the home boys when six hits were good for five runs. Dernbach sent New London into the lead again when, after being hit by a ball, he made the circuit on Bud Sweeney's hit. Pete settled down in the last four innings, allowing only three hits and no man was able to get beyond second base. In the seventh inning Myers and Westphal scored on Dobbegeten's fourth hit of the game. In the last two innings Dobbegeten was the only man to get on bases again. He led the locals in hitting, getting four hits in five trips to the plate, while Jahne, with two hits, a walk and being hit by a ball had the highest average of Murphy's Corners. This gives New London four wins and the locals one this season. Next Sunday's game calls for the appearance of Readfield here.

E. church in Philadelphia, but her goal is the foreign missionary field, particularly India.

New York — Mrs. Ernestine Schumann-Heink has an idea of a beautiful way to die. She told it on her 69th birthday: "Out on the stage I would like to sing the last note of a song. That would be the most beautiful way to go."

Wrightstown came here seeking revenge after losing to the local delegation on their home lot a few weeks ago. With the team strengthened in every department, they had little trouble in passing the Menasha ballers in the first few innings.

Tony Koneczka was the throwing choice for the Polish athletes and Slumski did the receiving. Maiewski twins, John and Joseph, Dombrowski, and the Omar brothers played in the outer garden, and Joseph Rietz held down first base.

TAPESTRY IN STONE FOR PARIS BUILDING

Paris—(AP)—A colossal "tapestry in stone" covering 2,666 square feet on the front of the permanent Colonial Museum is being "woven" by the French sculptor, A. Janniot. It will keep him and twenty workmen busy until next April when there will open on the eastern edge of Paris the International Colonial Exposition, of which the museum will be a part. It alone of all the buildings will remain after 1931.

This great tapestry, cut in Peltus stone, is believed to be the biggest such art work in the world. It is modern in design and depicts a long flat in execution, the depth nowhere exceeding four inches.

The "tapestry" tells the story of French colonial achievement, pictures the cities and races that made up the colonial empire, and sketches their worldwide commerce.

The "City of Abundance" is planned as receiving the offerings of the colonies. One brings rice, another rubber, a third cotton, others wheat, wool, oil, phosphates and many other products.

STATE GOVERNMENT BUSY LAST WEEK; ALLOW ROAD JOBS

Philip Porter Is Governor's Choice For Railroad Commissioner

Madison—(AP)—Selection of a railroad commissioner, defeat of Lieut. Gov. Henry Huber in supreme court and signing of several highway contracts by Gov. Walter Kohler featured governmental activities in the state capitol during the past week.

Philip Porter, member of the legal department of the railroad commission for some 10 years, was the governor's choice for the vacancy caused by the death of Louis M. Gettle, chairman. Native of Wisconsin, a graduate of its educational institutions, son of Lew Porter who was secretary of the capitol commission which constructed the state capitol. Porter non promotion to a position of meritorious service. His selection was made in conformity with the governor's policy of promoting those who have rendered "meritorious service" and "who have gained valuable experience fitting them for increased responsibilities."

In the opinion of the supreme court, given at its midweek sitting, Lieut. Gov. Henry Huber cannot proceed to start out as a candidate for the office of governor. Accused of probable violation of the corrupt practices act, Huber sought an adjournment of his trial. Counsel appointed by Gov. Kohler demurred; pleaded for more time in which to prepare the case. The supreme court invalidated a circuit court order to start the trial immediately. State's counsel, said the supreme court in effect, may start the trial anytime before the expiration of the lieutenant governor's term. Chiefed, Huber assailed his political opponents, said they were delaying his trial for political purposes.

Conservative-Republicans followed the lead of state Democrats during the past week by selecting their 1930 campaign leaders. Gov. Kohler, in conformity with expectations, received unanimous endorsement for renomination. Harry Dahl, La Crosse, was endorsed for lieutenant governor and William L. Plepew, Milwaukee, got the call for secretary of state. Edward Samp, Madison, will attempt to wrest the state treasurer'ship from "Red" Levittan. Some new appointees left the Oshkosh convention, but feeling the party had a good chance to push through the entire slate at the next election.

Political activity on the Progressive-Republican front was outwardly calm. Lieut. Gov. Henry Huber, Attorney General John Reynolds, Secretary of State Theodore Damman have all announced candidacies for reelection. No public announcement has yet come from Philip La Follette, looked upon as the most likely candidate for the governorship.

Almost $500,000 was lifted from the state's coffers during the week by Gov. Kohler for construction projects. Approximately $300,000 went for highway work, the governor signing contracts for work in Vilas, Florence, Polk, Price and Waukegan counties. About $200,000 went with the contract calling for the construction of an orthopedic hospital for children at the University of Wisconsin.

Commercial fishermen operating on Lake Michigan suffered a blow in supreme court during the week when the constitutionality of the 1925 commercial fishing law was upheld. The law requires the use of gill nets with a 24 inch mesh as a conservation move for Lake Michigan fishing. The fishermen fought the law as unconstitutional in that it was local in character; said they would be forced to turn to other pursuits for a livelihood.

More than $20,000,000 raised in the state treasury on June 1, State Treasurer Levittan announced during the week. The total represented a gain of more than $1,000,000 over the balance of May 1 and about $7,000,000 over the balance reported Jan. 1. The gas tax contributed more than $700,000 in April, the treasurer reported.

Disbarred from the practice of law for two years, Raymond Cannon, Milwaukee, has now saw his plea for reinstatement, the court announced that Cannon's request for reinstatement had been denied. Ambulance chasing was one of the major charges against the young attorney. Last April he ran as a candidate for the supreme court and was defeated although he polled a surprising vote.

Appointment of Dr. W. W. Wick, Sheboygan, as a member of the board of dental examiners, the proclamation of June 14 flag day, the suspension of the state bank of Elva and the permanent suspension of the Commercial Savings Building and Loan association, Kenosha, by the state banking department, were other activities in the statehouse during the week.

GETS FEDERAL JOB

Indian Girl Gets Government Post At $1,800 A Year

Washington—A government post at $1800 a year would scarcely seem the height of success to the average American girl.

But to little Juanita Crispin, full-blooded Pueblo Indian girl of 20, her appointment as a government matron and seamstress represents a public vindication of her 10-year fight against her family and her tribe for education.

Juanita was born in sunny Mexico, half-way between old Santa Fe and picturesque Albuquerque. On the Santo Domingo Pueblo reservation, one of the few remaining Indian settlements, which still has tribal self-government and which fights with the staunchness of the red man to maintain its aboriginal manner of life.

AT WAR ON CIVILIZATION For many ears these Indians refused to let their children go to the "White Man's School" that the government built for them. When a windmill was first established, it was mysteriously blown up. Shower baths and laundry tubs, with running water, built in several years ago, are now used to this day. All Indian girls who go away to attend a secondary school are ordered to return to the reservation when "released" and their homecoming is attended by a secret ceremonial dance which no white man has ever been allowed to witness.

Juanita was born realizing that there were horizons far beyond her native reservation. She got what education she could until she was 10. Then she fled for more promise to the Indian boarding school at Santa Fe. Finishing at 12, she begged for a chance to go on and become a nurse. She was "released home" but the work her heart's desire denied, but her spirit spirit unbowed.

WINS CIVIL SERVICE JOB That summer she became housekeeper at the day school then stationed on the reservation, and got good satisfaction in unobtrusively seeping water into the lives of the children in the school. When she was 14 she again fled with the rebel girls to a hidden school, away for more schooling. There she met, and that autumn, just a distance of a few hours from the reservation, she met all the way to a boarding school, and enrolled. Her four years there had earned her a high school diploma in a family of five, by working, it was in a hotel. This June, 1929, after her 20th birthday, she was called to the civil service examinations and her papers on paper, she did, securing very good marks in their accuracy and scope.

She received an immediate appointment. But her real goal will be realized, her heart's desire granted, when she is appointed to gain post where she can have the authority to instruct her own tribe in the benefits of civilized living as against their aboriginal bias.

MARKED REVIVAL IN STEEL IS SEEN NEXT SEPTEMBER

Extremely Dull Summer Is in Sight, However, To Make Sailing Rough

Special Dispatch to Post-Crescent—Pittsburgh—(AP)—Predictions are now quite general that there will be a marked revival in steel demand about Sept. 1, making a dead-end upturn, and it is remarked that steel producers are no longer concerning themselves much about the next two months.

That makes smooth reading, but it is not so good as it looks. It is clear that there will be a decided revival in demand, and the duller summer is the easier it is for a revival to occur, but that may be only in the nature of a necessary rebound, hence of no great significance compared with the activity there has been in steel this far in the year.

The surprising May steel production report showed decidedly less tonnage than there was reason to expect. In February and March production as officially reported substantially exceeded weekly trade estimates of producing rates, while in May was a distinct excess. May was the same way, running below the estimates.

Comparing average daily rates of bessemer and open-hearth steel output production, March was 2.7 per cent under February, April 3.4 per cent under March and May 6.7 per cent under April.

The magnitude of last February's production is now emphasized. It was fully 20 per cent above the present rate and there are no seasonal or other physical considerations to account for that. March or April, seasonally, is a peak month.

Decreases in demand are quite general, but not universal. The exception are fabricated structural steel work, which is holding up rather well, comparing decidedly better with the last two years than do many lines, and the pipe, which is extremely active relative to capacity.

Prices of some finished steel products are steady and so low relative to cost as to indicate there will be little, if any, further decline. Bars, shapes and plates, which represent a large tonnage are not in that category. There is a defined carload and small lot market while large orders have been slow at various prices, and in time the spot market will presumably have to conform.

OUTFITTED "Yes, granny, I'm to be married in June."

"But, my dear," said grandma, "you are very young. Do you feel you are fitted for married life?"

"I am being fitted now," exclaimed the prospective bride. "Bewitched by the prospective bride."

Murder at High Tide

By CHARLES G. BOOTH

Chapter 31
A SERPENT IN THE HAND
W E had two seconds of silence before Mrs. Parados sprang to her feet.

"That is a wicked lie!" she exclaimed.

But the vehemence of her tone defeated its purpose. It left me with the conviction that she and not Fluke had uttered the lie.

Fluke bowed. "Madame is emphatic, but I repeat: this pendant is hers."

"How dare you say such a thing! Are you accusing me of murder? Look at it. Mrs. Parados pointed a quivering finger at the pendant.

"What was the price tag on it—35 cents? Do you mean to say that a woman in my position would own such a thing?"

She turned on Samuels, her voice unpleasantly shrill.

"Who is in charge of this investigation? You or Fluke?"

Fluke's accusation had thrown Samuels off his balance.

"We shall hear what M. Fluke has to say, Mrs. Parados," he said. "You'd better sit down."

"It is a long story," Fluke began cautiously, "and there are many blanks."

"You are telling it," Mrs. Parados said passionately.

"Mais oui. But madame will help." Fluke's eyes were supremely wise. "You have told us that it was monsieur's delight to—how you say—humiliate you. There were other women, perhaps?"

"Yes."

"And so, madame, your affection for monsieur became hatred?"

"Could it have become anything else? I've told you this before. He wanted fear and hatred—and that was all. I did not give him fear, but I did hate him—with every fiber of my body. Didn't he trample underfoot every ideal I ever had? Didn't he offer me every conceivable insult that entered his head? I hated him enough to kill him, but I didn't kill him. Remember that!"

"Madame was too wise, perhaps?"

"Perhaps."

Fluke twirled his mustache. "And so madame conceived l'idee magnifique of her revenge?"

Mrs. Parados clenched her hands. "I don't know what you mean."

Fluke leaned forward, wagging a plump finger. "Madame will remember those little ones, le Belafre and Ciceron Bec, who escaped from l'ile du Diable seven months ago? The journals everywhere were full of it."

"Yes, Why?"

"Madame," Fluke continued gently, "it was a month after that escape that the notices about the jade phoenix of M. Parados began to appear in the Marseilles journals."

"The little muscles at the corners of Mrs. Parados' mouth began to quiver."

"I don't know what you mean."

Mrs. Parados whispered. "Have the perceptions of madame lost their subtlety?" Fluke inquired, spreading his hands. "I speak of madame's discovery . . . that monsieur was the famous Jules Lacote . . . the accomplice of le Belafre and Ciceron Bec . . . whom he betrayed. Madame will remember that when those little ones robbed the Banque du Midi, a patron of that bank was shot. And who was that patron but the merchant of antiques from whom the famous Lacote had bought his lucky piece, that jade phoenix, the day before?"

"Ah, but madame was clever! Too clever to kill monsieur, whom she hated. Non, non, she will have Messieurs le Belafre and Bec, who have just come out of the black horror of l'ile du Diable, attend to that little matter. And to madame puts her notices in the Marseilles journals. Does she not know that those wretched ones will be hungry for news of the city of their birth? It was an astonishing cleverness, that revenge! Madame has the genius."

A drop of blood trembled upon Mrs. Parados' lower lip. She shut her eyes and clenched her hands. Then suddenly flung her head up and broke into a torrent of words. "Yes, I did insert that advertisement. I hoped it would bring those men here. And I hoped they'd send a bullet into Dan's black heart. There! It's out, I'm glad. I suppose you want to know how I knew about Dan and those men and the phoenix. It was this way:

"Dan was always bragging, especially after he'd been drinking. One evening, a few days after that escape from Devil's Island, he drank enough to make him talkative and he boasted he had sent those two men there 25 years ago."

"I questioned him. He wouldn't commit himself, but the little he did say made me feel that he was Jules Lacote and that his phoenix was the one the newspapers had mentioned."

"It was then that I thought of letting the convicts know where Dan was. There was only one way in which I could get to them the information they would need. I was sure they would get hold of their home town newspapers as time went on. I'm glad I did it. If you tell me that one of those men shot Dan I shall feel I have accomplished something useful. That's all."

Mrs. Parados stopped as defiantly as she had begun.

"What are you going to do about it, M. Fluke?" she demanded.

Fluke spread his hands. "Have I not complimented madame?"

"You know what I mean!" she exclaimed. "Did those men kill my husband?"

Fluke made her wait perhaps half a minute before he answered.

"Does madame speak seriously?"

"What do you mean?"

Fluke held up the pendant. "Has madame forgotten this?"

"What do you mean?"

"That monsieur offered madame the unbearable humiliation and that she could not content herself to wait for Messieurs le Belafre and Bec, who might never come at all."

"You are crazy!" Mrs. Parados screamed.

"Madame is not herself. Is it because I am about to remind her that Friday, the day monsieur was killed, was the anniversary of her wedding and the birthday of madame? It is because I remind her this truth, which monsieur purchased for 35 cents, was his gift to madame on that tender occasion?"

"No, no, no!" Mrs. Parados was beating upon the arms of her chair. "It was the final humiliation. Madame could stand no more."

"You are lying! It isn't my pendant I never saw it before!"

"A green stone is missing—you see!" Fluke held the pendant in front of Mrs. Parados' agonized eyes. "But that excellent Manning found it on the floor of madame's room—and madame—"

"You devil!"

"—and madame knocked it out of her hand."

Mrs. Parados covered her face and rocked back and forth in her chair.

"It was evening and madame went up to her room to dress," Fluke continued relentlessly. "Am I not right? How it burned her hand, that trifle. She could not bear it."

"Fluke—listen to me. I didn't do it!"

"The excellent Manning prepares her bath. Madame undresses and puts on her gown—her blue gown. The trifle still burns her hand and she thrusts it deep into her pocket."

"But a little hall connects madame's chamber with her bathroom, and a door in the hall opens on the roof. Madame has closed the door of her chamber. She looks through the glass and sees that the patio door of the library is open and filled with light, and in it—it is monsieur. Madame touches the pendant in her pocket. It is a flame—unseen."

"Make him stop!" the distracted woman screamed. "I couldn't have done it!"

"It bites her flesh. A madness leaps up in her brain. It drives her onto the roof—down the stair holding her gown close around her body—mon dieu, how she runs! to the patio window where monsieur stands."

"It was some one else, I tell you! Just before I got to him, I couldn't have killed him. I had nothing—no weapon. Oh, please believe me!"

"And when monsieur fell at her feet and madame bent over him to see if he was dead, he caught the pendant in his hand, he clutched it with his dying strength—and caught the price ticket and broke the string!"

SAVINGS DEPOSITS LAST MONTH MAKE STRONG SHOWING

Figures Prove Public Has Adopted Policy Of Real Thrill

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
(Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press)
Wall Street, New York (CFA)— Compared with a year ago, when business was in record volume and employment and wages at a high ratio,
the figures of savings bank deposits of New York state banks for May, published today make a remarkable strong showing. Although they declined $4,250,548, this was in contrast with a decrease in the same month of 1929 of $22,521, 919 and of $10,590,483 in May 1928.
The figures indicate that, in spite of the present conditions of unemployment in this state and smaller incomes to many holders of securities, owing to reduced dividends, the public has adopted a thrift policy and is maintaining large balances in the savings banks as a reserve against future contingencies.
Another factor that has entered into the comparatively small net decrease is the trend toward savings deposits at a time when earnings on call money and on short term securities are low. This has resulted in the deposit of funds by individuals and corporations who normally do not use the savings banks but are now able to earn 4 per cent, and in some cases, as much as 4 1/2 and 5 per cent, on funds located with the New York state mutual savings banks.

MORE LARGE DEPOSITS
The number of large deposits has tended to overbalance the withdrawals by smaller depositors. In May there were 736 more accounts opened than the number of accounts closed.
It is suggested that while there may be fewer individuals who have surplus funds to start a savings bank account, those who have such accounts are tenaciously holding to them.
In the stock market decline last autumn, savings deposits in the New York metropolitan district experienced a decrease of between $70,000, 000 and $75,000,000. Withdrawals were then made on a large scale in order to protect margin accounts in stocks and also to take advantage of the low prices prevailing to buy securities outright. In the next three months deposits increased and the savings institutions were placed in funds, permitting them to go back into the bond market and buy bonds on a large scale. The subsequent decline in securities in May and again this month had their effect on deposits, but in only a limited way compared with last October and November.

The current low open market rates
and the agitation existing for a further reduction in rates on deposits of the New York clearing house banks raises the question from time to time as to the policy of the mutual savings banks in maintaining the general rate of 4 1/2 per cent.
Undoubtedly, some of the smaller institutions would welcome a reduction. On the other hand, four or five of the metropolitan banks which inaugurated the 4 1/2 per cent rate are strongly against a change, claiming their investments are of such character that they can easily pay 4 1/2 per cent and add liberally to surplus.

The savings bank, therefore, is steadily becoming a more active competitor with the commercial bank for deposits on the basis of an interest rate more than twice as high as the current rate on checking accounts and 1 to 1 1/2 per cent above
the rate on time deposits.

MANY EDUCATIONAL METHODS ARE SCORED

Ripon (C)—Rollin B. Lane, Hollywood, Calif., banker, indicted many educational methods as "mass production of so-called knowledge" in an address here Saturday at cornerstone laying exercises for the new $100,000 library he is giving to Ripon college.
College curricula, he said, should be changed to "eliminate some dead-weight." He urged that less attention be paid to formal education and more to personal elements.

New Haven, Conn. (C)—The senior class of Yale college has voted Maurice Francis Hanson of Duluth, Minn., as the member who had done
the most for Yale and as the second hardest worker in the class.

Prisoners sentenced to hard labor in England will not, under the proposed revised prison rules, have to face the 14 days' solitary confinement now enforced.

TIETZ ATTORNEY WILL DEFEND DON ALLISON

Milwaukee (C)—F. Carney Nelligan, youthful attorney who obtained freedom for Gustave Tietz, Jr., confessed patricide, today represented Donald Allison, married Chicagoan, held on murder charges as the result of the death of Ursula Lang, 19.
Allison's hearing was continued for two weeks Saturday. He is accused of slaying the girl with whom he was carrying on an illicit love affair. Miss Lang was found dead from poison in a hotel room here the day after she registered with Allison. He insisted she committed suicide. Police believed her the victim of a hoax suicide pact.

PARTIES NOT SPLIT BY TARIFF ACTION

New York and Chicago financial districts urging that the bill be killed.
This same pressure now will be exerted to persuade President Hoover to write a veto.
But the president is committed just as were the members of the senate to some form of tariff legislation when once the legislative ball starts rolling. Had the business interests of the country made their protests vocal three months ago, before the bill went into conference, it could easily have been buried in the senate. But not until nearly every senator had committed himself in some way on tariff revision, and a large number had expressed themselves in favor of it, did the opposition really start and then it was difficult for senators to reverse themselves.

FEARED RESPONSIBILITY
Nobody wanted to assume the responsibility for killing the bill, particularly since the pressure for tariff protection was coming from agricultural regions. It is significant, however, that on final passage many of the senators from agricultural states voted against the bill, including Senator Borah of Idaho, who was originally insistent that a special session be called to pass a tariff bill to protect agricultural products.
The general feeling here is that President Hoover will take a few days only to examine the bill but that he will sign it with a message of protest, expressing his displeasure of things that have crept into the measure which are contrary to sound public policy, especially in the possible injury of foreign trade. But that is what always happens whenever the tariff is open wide for revision.

WHITE PINE MONUMENT
Newberry, Mich. (C)—The largest of the white pines standing in the Tahquamenon district has been felled and brought to Newberry to be placed in a concrete base as a memento
of the old logging days. W. J.
Mathews, president of the lumber company owning the tract upon which the tree stood, announced the monument today.

FAMILY DOCTOR MADE MILLIONS OF FRIENDS

Fifteen years after his graduation,
Dr. Caldwell became famous for a single prescription, which now, after forty years, is still making friends.
Today Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the world's most popular laxative.
Millions of people never think of using anything else when they're constipated, headachy, bilious, feverish or weak; when breath is bad, tongue coated, or they're suffering from nausea, gas, or lack of appetite or energy.
Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made today according to the original formula, from herbs and other pure ingredients. It is pleasant-tasting;
thorough in the most obstinate cases;
truly effective for women and children. Above all, it represents a doctor's choice of what is safe for the bowels.

Wedding Superstitions Revived By Bebe Daniels

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Hollywood, Cal. (CFA)—All the charming old wedding superstitions which she could find were revived
by Bebe Daniels for her marriage Saturday night to Ben Lyon. "I've not been in a hurry to marry," she explained in a breathless moment.
"because I want my marriage to last."

Toward that end, she invoked all the goodlings of good luck. She wore something old, inside her shoe. She wore something borrowed, and something new. She is going to have Ben lift her across the threshold of their home when they return from the honeymoon. She refused to let Ben see her in the wedding gown previous to the ceremony. For days she scowled anxiously at any floating cloud above the hills, because happily is the bride whom the sun shines on.

And she stipulated that, whether it considered fashionable nowadays or not, at least one handful of real rice and one guaranteed old shoe be flung after her when she and Ben departed.

Pastel tints and spring flowers made this wedding one of the most artistic ever seen in the film colony.
The ceremony was performed in the Beverly-Windsor hotel, in the presence of a hundred guests, and was followed by a reception to which most of the film colony was invited.

VEIL OF RARE LACE
Bebe's gown was of wedding-ring
satin in a shade of palest cream.
Her veil, a gift from Mrs. Edwin Knopf, was a very rare old piece of Viennese Burano lace. Her bouquet was white orchids, lilies of the valley, and iris.

In accordance with the newer mode, the bridesmaids were nearly all married women. Mrs. Rita Kautman and Mrs. George Fitzmaurice wore, respectively, orchid and pale violet chiffon and lace; Lila Lee and Constance Talmadge, lovebird yellow and maize; Betty Compton and Mae Sunday, peach and coral; Marie Mosquini and Adela Rogers St. John, shades of pale blue; Louella Parsons,
matron of honor, wore seafoam
green. Their bouquets were spicing flowers to match the costumes. In these bouquets the various kinds of iris—the bride's favorite flower predominated, as in the hotel decorations.

For a wedding gift, Ben Lyon gave his bride a superb necklace of diamonds, a little more than choker length, in which the stones representing every type of cutting from rose to baguette. The central stone is pear-shaped, with a heart-shaped setting. Bebe gave Ben a tennis court. She doesn't play tennis herself, but this court will be an important feature of the home which Lyon plans to build on his three acres in the Hollywood hills.

The honeymoon will last between two and three weeks. Both the bride and bridegroom expect to be called back to the studios within at most three weeks to begin work on new pictures.

AUTO PRODUCERS MAKING PLANS FOR IMPROVED MODELS

Present Slackness In Industry Does Not Discourage Manufacturers

Special Dispatch to Post-Crescent Detroit (CFA)—Prevailing slack-ness in automobile manufacturing is not sufficient to check plans of producers to stimulate trade by the inroduction of new and improved models—the usual procedure for numerous plants at this period of the year.

Both Hupmobile and Willys-Overland come forward with seasonal offerings this week. The former consists of both six and eight cylinder cars and the latter a lower priced Willys-Knight. To follow these will come the American edition of the English Austin, a hansom car to be produced from Ender, Pa. Chrysler and Packard have new lines in preparation. Pierce-Arrow last week put out a new series of eights, while the Durant organization added a four-door coach model.

A group of other makers have midsummer dates scheduled for new offerings, several of which will represent radical changes from former designs. All of these signify factory activity that will carry over into third quarter operations required to provide dealers with stocks for immediate sale. As to the pick-up in demand that is expected to absorb the new stuff, the sales heads believe that delayed buying of medium priced cars since the first of the year represents a cumulative factor that will assert itself through the late summer and fall.

As to the present condition, the country over, it is found that sales volume varies widely. The Pacific coast, including California and Washington, together with Wisconsin, have actually absorbed more new cars than were sold last year up to this time. While California, being an all-year motoring country, is considered in a class by itself as a market, the way sales volume was held up in that part of the country is regarded as an indication of underlying strength of nationwide buying power.

In other sections the reports have been unfavorable by comparison, but when it is considered that 1929 brought peak returns that may never again be equalled, the distribution structure is deemed to be structurally sound.

their first airplane ride Lewis and Albert Hume, 12, twins, are worried, really worried, lest had prevent them going up again. The plane piloted by a professional, but sometimes and wires. The twins have a few bruises to show for their lack.

Theronoid of Appleton
115 East College Ave.
Appleton, Wisconsin
Gentlemen:

I highly recommend Theronoid to anyone suffering from nerve trouble. I suffered for about two years; the pain starting in the right side of my body, which caused a numb feeling, then the pain traveled to my left leg, causing it to feel dead. I had a very hard time walking.
I tried any number of different Doctors; who told me there was no help, that it would have to wear off or stay.
Then I heard of Theronoid and purchased one in January, now my nerve trouble is a thing of the past.
My wife also used the Theronoid for diabetes and feels very much improved.
I would never be without Theronoid and sincerely believe there should be one in every home. I give my permission to use this letter in anyway you see fit to help suffering humanity.
Sincerely yours,
Edward Albers,

European Union Pact

Would Tax Americans

Paris.—P—A federation of European states, supported by head of state, including Americans and other non-European states, is to take definite form and submitted to all European governments by Count R. N. Gendebien-Kalergie, president of the Pan European Union of cellor, treasurer and various secretaries as active executives. There would be a legislative assembly with membership allotted according to comparative populations of participating states, and a supreme court of three chambers of five judges each, selected by the assembly and

It is offered as basis for discussing the European union idea evolved by Aristide Briand, foreign minister of France. M. Briand is generally known for his plan by collective security, which suggests that governments under authority of the League of Nations, the count's scheme being entirely unofficial.

Members would guarantee to respect the covenant of the League of Nations and the Kellogg pact for renunciation of the conflict's draft would also unite the military and sources of Europe. Members would regard an attack upon one of them as an attack upon their own territory and would undertake to protect it.
